

COAL MINE WRECKED BY TWO EXPLOSIONS

PITTSBURG, KANSAS, November 7.—The small mine of the Burgess Coal Company, one mile south of Mulberry, was wrecked by two explosions early today.

The tipple was destroyed, the mouth of the slope caved in and motors and other electrical machinery were ruined by the explosions.

The mine has been operated for several weeks in spite of a strike of miners. Eight men comprise the company, all of them miners, and they have done all of the work at the mine. Six of the men have been working regularly at the mine, it was said today.

On the morning of October 27, the Gray Wolf mine, also a slope plant operated by a small company of miners, was blown up by dynamite, but the damage was not extensive and the mine is again in operation.

Irish Peace Parley To Be Resumed

LONDON, November 7.—The principals in the Irish peace negotiations were due in London today for a resumption of their conference. The Sinn Fein delegates were expected back from their week-end trip to Ireland, and Premier Lloyd George is to preside at a cabinet meeting upon his arrival from Chequers court, his country estate. Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, who had two lengthy conferences with Mr. Lloyd George on Saturday, remains here and will be available in case his presence is desired when the negotiations are resumed.

While in Ireland, Michael Collins and George Gavan Duffy, the Sinn Fein delegates, consulted Eamon De Valera, head of the Irish Republican government.

Although Sir James Craig's visit has thus far brought out nothing to alter the situation materially, the London correspondent of the Belfast Telegraph declares it possible that the Ulster premier and his colleagues may be immediately called into the conference for the purpose of reviewing the position of northern Ireland with regard to the bases of agreement already reached.

Woman is Sentenced For Murder

TWIN FALLS, IDAHO, November 7.—Mrs. Lydia Meyer Southard, convicted here last week of the murder of Edward F. Meyer, her fourth husband, was sentenced today in district court to from ten years to life imprisonment.

The defendant stood up, fixed her eyes upon the bench and received the sentence without a tremor.

Notice of appeal was filed by her attorneys, but a stay of execution was not asked.

Mrs. Southard yesterday packed up all her belongings about the county jail and according to her attorneys had expressed a wish to begin serving her sentence at once.

Under Idaho laws, the duration of indeterminate sentences is largely in the hands of the state pardon board.

Mrs. Southard appeared in court alone except for her attorneys. Her husband left for San Francisco last night to resume his position as a petty officer in the navy.

New Leader of Democrats

CORDELL BULL, of Carthage, Tenn., newly chosen chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, is known as the father of the present income tax law.

He is considered the best informed man on taxation in the country.

As a boy he had no idea of reaching such high standing as his is today, for he was busy helping his father guide rafts of logs down the Cumberland river.

But he determined on law as a career and at 18 he entered Cumberland university.

After his graduation he served one term in the Tennessee legislature and then left for the Spanish American war as captain.

As circuit judge in Nashville, from 1904 to 1907, he was known as a quick, decisive thinker.

In 1907 he was elected to Congress where he remained until the beginning of this year. During that term his most important work was the composition of the present income tax law. He is now 50 years old.

Plot Behind Premier's Death Say Officials

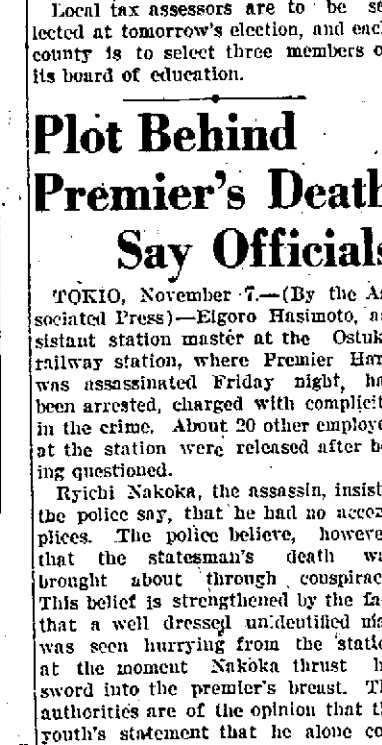

TOKIO, November 7.—(By the Associated Press)—Elgorio Hasimoto, assistant station master at the Ostuka railway station, where Premier Hara was assassinated Friday night, has been arrested, charged with complicity in the crime. About 20 other employees at the station were released after being questioned.

Ryichi Nakoka, the assassin, insists, the police say, that he had no accomplices. The police believe, however, that the statesman's death was brought about through conspiracy. This belief is strengthened by the fact that a well dressed unidentified man was seen hurrying from the station at the moment Nakoka thrust his sword into the premier's breast. The authorities are of the opinion that the youth's statement that he alone conceived the crime was made in an effort to shield his co-conspirator. Nakoka was in hiding on the station platform when the premier and a number of other leaders of the Seiyun-Kai party arrived to take the 7:30 train for Kyoto, where a meeting was to be held.

As the premier, chatting with his companions, passed through the gate leading to the station platform, Nakoka leaped from his hiding place and plunged a short sword into Mr. Hara's left breast, at the same time exclaiming:

"The country's enemy!"

First aid was administered to the stricken premier in the station master's room and he was then taken to his home, where he died within a short time.

Ohio Miners Back To Work

ATHENS, O., November 7.—In compliance with orders from officials of District Number 6, United Mine Workers of America, practically every union miner in the Hocking coal fields has returned to work, according to reports received here today. France Ready To Join In Efforts To Avert New Wars-Briand

NEW YORK, November 7.—France is ready to join in every endeavor to avert new wars, "provided she has nothing to fear for her own security, which remains one of the most solid guarantees of the peace of the world," said Premier Aristide Briand in a message to the American people, upon his arrival today to attend the armament conference at Washington.

Just because she had to suffer from the war more than any other nation," he added, "she is ready to approach the problem of the conference in the most favorable spirit for the maintenance of peace.

"Between France and the United States there is no room for any difference, however slight. Both our countries only endeavor to lead the men and peoples of good will to peaceful and fruitful work and to reduce more and more the risks of war.

"Today, the world which is in such need of safety and rest wants not only soothing words, but realities."

A crowd gave the premier and his party a rousing welcome as they stepped ashore from the steamship Lafayette.

"On setting foot on the soil of the great American republic," said M. Briand's message, "my first thought came to mingle their blood with that of the soldiers of France, back to those fighters whom the United States sent over to us as the most precious thing they had, back to those magnificent high-souled youths with heroic hearts who fell for right and for liberty with a smile to the land that has plausibly entombed them. To their families France now sends me as a near relative. I am coming to assure them that the recollection of those heroes are deeply graven in the heart of every Frenchman.

"For centuries France has been the ground of the great struggles for civilization. The last war has shown that she is able to uphold her ideal to the utmost limit of sacrifice. She does not forget any of the nations that helped her in safeguarding her independence and saving the liberty of the world. She knows in particular what she owes to the fraternal devotion, to the mighty help which America brought her. The two countries are henceforth united in the same glory. They feel that this very union provides the best guarantee for the peace of the world and that the main interests of mankind can not but profit by their close and intimate co-operation.

"It is as prime minister of the French republic, I did not hesitate, in spite of present difficulties, to leave my country, it was first because I wanted to bring over the tribute of my gratitude and at the same time show that the foremost thought of every Frenchman is peace. We know too well that what war means and the toll it takes, not to yearn for peace with heart and soul.

As soon as President Harding sent out his noble call my country answered, "Present!" And here I am to demonstrate the earnest good will

FINANCIAL AID FOR GERMAN GOVERNMENT

BERLIN, November 7.—(By the Associated Press)—The League of German Industrialists has voted to come to the financial aid of the government by placing at its disposal the foreign credits of the league's members, estimated to yield 1,000,000,000 marks. A resolution to this effect was adopted after seven hours of stormy debate which was participated in by Hugo Stinnes, the financier, and Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, director of the Krupp works.

The resolution sets forth the following conditions:

Adoption by the government of a program of rigid economy and consultation with private enterprises in formulating the economic and tax program.

Declaration of the government's willingness to call upon foreign financial experts for advice in regard to amount of credit to be floated and its relation to the prevailing fluctuations of foreign exchange.

Enterprises in the hands of the state and public bodies to be managed in such a manner that they cease to be a drain upon the public treasury.

Freedom of the country's economic life from restriction that hinders its development. In this category the league places the eight hour day.

The meeting was attended by 1,200 representatives of big business concerns.

AMERICA WILL END WOBBLING IN FAR EAST

BY WM. PHILIP SIMMS

WASHINGTON, November 7.—A radical change of front on the part of the United States with regard to her policy in the Far East, will make itself felt for the first time at the arms conference here according to an important official of the Harding administration.

From an attitude of purely academic protest when the rights of her nationals abroad are assailed, America is expected to serve notice on the nations gathered here that a new rule of conduct, not so passive, will guide her actions in the future.

England is likewise expected to make known a similar, though less drastic, shift of policy, she having lagged far behind the United States to arrive at the same stand.

As a result of this long step for America, and the shorter one for Britain, the two nations may fetch up very close together, at least on Pacific problems.

Loan Office Agent Is Bound And Robbed

TOLEDO, O., November 7.—Sidney Rayman, manager of the National Loan Co., in the downtown district here, was bound, gagged and robbed of $5,000 in diamonds, jewels and cash, this morning. Scores of pedestrians were passing the shop when two bandits attacked Rayman. They escaped in an automobile.

Rayman was alone when two men entered the store. He recognized one as a patron who had left a watch for repair several days ago. When Rayman opened the safe to get the watch he was ordered to hold up his hands. The gunmen then tied his wrists and feet and stuffed a handkerchief in his mouth. They then emptied the safe of everything of value and fled.

After struggling with his bonds for ten minutes, Rayman succeeded in freeing himself and telephoned to police headquarters, a block away. Detectives in speed cars were hurried to the scene, but no trace of the bandits was found.

Detroit To Entertain Foch Today

DETROIT, MICIL, November 7.—Detroit was in gala attire today in honor of Marshal Ferdinand Foch, hero of heroes.

An afternoon and evening filled with honors for the allied leader was the schedule, following respects paid him earlier in the day at Camp Cass near Battle Creek, and at Ann Arbor.

The marshal and his party reached the city from Chicago early today, where he dedicated the new Roosevelt Memorial Hospital, an institution that will care for Michigan's former service men, addressed the thousands who came to greet him and then made a brief inspection tour.

On his way to Detroit the marshal stopped at Ann Arbor and made a five minute address to University of Michigan students, who assembled at the station.

Arriving in Detroit early this afternoon, Marshal Foch found a full program arranged for him. It began with the greetings at the railroad station by thousands of former soldiers, Red Cross workers, army nurses and a company of Detroiters who served under the tri-color, all clad in their service uniforms. A triumphal march through the city's principal streets to the city hall, where Mayor James Couzens planned to extend the official greeting, and a visit to Detroit automobile factories was on the program for the afternoon.

Early this evening the marshal will be the guest of honor at a banquet tendered by Detroit citizens. Later he will address a mass meeting. He expects to leave late tonight for Cleveland.

FAGGED FEELINGS DRAG SPIRITS DOWN

Caused By Decayed Waste In Blood—Pepto-
Mangan Needed

When a man's feelings get into a crumbling condition and the fabric of his strength seems unstable, and he begins to look sullen and think dark, discouraged thoughts, it is usually caused by stale blood, clogged with waste which acts like a poison on the system.

In stale, weakened blood Gude's Pepto-Mangan starts a change. It feeds the blood with iron and other ingredients that make blood red and full of vigor. There is immediate evidence of the restorative powers of enriched blood. Perhaps it is more noticeable in the smack and flavor of food. After sleep there is a sort of triumphant feeling of refreshed vigor. Great is the delight of restored health.

Physicians recommend and prescribe Gude's Pepto-Mangan. It is a recognized blood builder, and it has genuine medicinal value. Sold in both liquid and tablet form. Advertisement.

100 MEN

Who are giving their verdict on Superintendent E. O. McCowen. They have worked with him on 24 Boards of Education and he has worked with them.

To Whom It May Concern:

We, the undersigned, have been members of one of the Boards of Education of the Scioto County School District, for either all or a part of the time that Superintendent E. O. McCowen has been County Superintendent of Schools.

At no time has Superintendent E. O. McCowen ever attempted to usurp our power or to dictate to us in any way. On the other hand, he has presented various recommendations to our Board from time to time and said recommendations have been thoroughly discussed by our Board and were acted upon according to the dictates of the judgments of the members of the Board.

We resent the statements that are being circulated, either directly or by implication, to the contrary.

Superintendent McCowen has aided us with wise advice on many difficult school questions. No more industrious, conscientious and hard worker for good schools can be found than he. After years of co-operation with him we know that he is efficient. Vain attempts to misrepresent him will not succeed. So far as we can see, persons responsible for this campaign of misrepresentation have opposed measures for good schools and have done all they could during the time he has been County Superintendent to make his work for school improvement fail.

Respectfully,

Not a Board of Education in Scioto County without representation in this endorsement and only ONE Board without either a majority or all of the members. What could be more forceful? DOES NOT THIS SETTLE ALL QUESTIONS AGAINST A SO-CALLED RULE OR RUIN POLICY?

These ONE HUNDRED men, as duly elected representative Board Members of the various districts of Scioto County, knowing the splendid work of Superintendent McCowen commend him to the people, resent the attack made upon him, and urge the voters of Scioto County to vote for AL TURNER, WILLIAM BRANT and JOHN S. VIOLET.

On all of this we rest our case to the jury, the voters of Scioto County.

In their article quoted from the Cincinnati Enquirer pertaining to POLITICS IN THE SCHOOLS we wish to call the attention of the voters to this fact, that the Scioto County School Administration has been singularly free from politics for seven years. We have never inquired about the politics of any applicant for any school job. We never came to know their politics except by accident later. And when we did, it happened that some of our best superintendents were of an opposite political faith to the majority of membership of the county school authorities. Those same superintendents being excellent men remained with us until they could get so much more money elsewhere than it was impossible for us to keep them, try as hard as we may. No good school man and no good school teacher has lost their job in Scioto County. We have held that kind. We were sorry to lose them when they could get more money elsewhere than the law and our finances would permit us to pay.

POLITICS IN THE SCHOOLS, LET US SEE

The School Board tickets are supposed to be non-partisan under the law. The candidates for re-election who are now members of the County Board represent both political parties, as everybody knows, but, how about the opposition candidates? All three represent only one party. Are they aiming at political control? Why do they say so much about politics in the schools when there has been no politics in the schools and when their own ticket is absolutely PARTISAN? We, therefore, feel that we have a just right to appeal to the voters of both great political parties of Scioto County to make sure THAT THE SCHOOLS BE KEPT NON-PARTISAN in accordance with the spirit of the law by electing JOHN S. VIOLET, AL TURNER and WILLIAM BRANT. The present school administration has been non-partisan, free from both political influence and political control, and we believe that the voters will keep it that way.

Sacred Cantata Ruth Pleases Big Audience

The sacred cantata, "Ruth" by Carl, was ably rendered at the "Vesper Hour" yesterday afternoon, at the First Presbyterian church, by an augmented choir, under the direction of Foster Krake. An hour before the time announced for the program, the audience began assembling, and before four o'clock people were being turned away.

This cantata was the first serious work done by this composer, and while not as well known in America as "The Holy City," and of an entirely different character, it has a beauty all its own. The power of "Ruth" lies in its warm human interest, its oriental atmosphere, and the peculiar appeal to faith which the loyalty of Ruth still makes, undimmed by the passing of the centuries.

The chorus showed plainly the results of long and consistent rehearsal, under an able director. This was the First time since he came to Portsmouth that our Community Music Leader has had a chance to direct a really serious work; and it makes us all eager to hear the Armistice Day chorus sing Horatio Parker's commemorative ode, "A. D. 1919" next Friday night. It will be remembered that Mr. Krake's first public appearance in Portsmouth was made some months ago, on Sunday morning, at the First Presbyterian church.

Three of the choruses stand out in the memory of those who enjoyed the afternoon. The song of the Reapers, which a semi-chorus of maidens, followed by a chorus of men, accompanied by piano alone, completed by the combined choruses, with organ and piano, made a pleasing contrast to the heavier numbers. The "Wedding Chorus," in which the ancient oriental spirit was dominant, brought the full spirit of joy into the cantata, as a relief to the solemnity of some of the earlier numbers, and led up to the finale, a magnificent paean of praise to the Almighty.

Miss Myrtle Ziegler's rich voice was splendidly fitted to the tragedy in the life of the broken-hearted Naomi. Her first aria, "O Gracious Lord," following the recitative, "Go ye now, my daughters," was singularly effective. Mrs. O. J. Deitzler made an admirable "Ruth," and her rendition of the aria, "Entreat me not to leave thee," it is safe to say, will never be forgotten by those who heard her. Its effect was heightened by the trio that preceded, in which Naomi's cry of "It may not be," was answered by the striking contrast in Orpah's "Farewell" and Ruth's "Ah, no!" The part of Orpah was well taken by Mrs. Chas. L. Storck. The duet in which Naomi gives her blessing to Ruth, betrothed to Boaz, won a very sympathetic response from the audience.

In addition to directing the cantata Mr. Krake sang the part of "Boaz." Mr. Krake is a real artist, and interpreted these solos to the delight of the entire audience. A large part of the credit for the production is due to the untiring energy and real musicianship of the organist, Mrs. J. M. Stockham. Her special organ numbers were again one of the features of the program. Mrs. D. C. Boyd was at the piano. The support of this instrument, in addition to the organ, is peculiarly effective in this cantata.

The music loving public evidently approves the decision to change the time of the monthly musical evenings at this church which have been so much enjoyed the past season, to the "Vesper Hour," and they will be continued thus throughout this season.

Those taking part in the production were: Soloists—"Ruth" Mrs. O. J. Deitzler; "Naomi," Miss Myrtle Ziegler; "Orpah," Mrs. Chas. L. Storck; "Boaz," Mr. Foster Krake.

CARD FROM THE MAYOR

To The Citizens Of Portsmouth:

Two years ago you did me the high honor of electing me mayor of the splendid city of Portsmouth.

I appreciated then the fine token of your esteem and I am even more sensible now of just what that vote of confidence meant.

The months which intervened have been extra busy ones, bringing their great weight of municipal problems and an unusual array of questions of civil policy.

To each of these, I have given honest and most careful consideration. I have sought the counsel of our citizens irrespective of party, and, while I may have erred at times, my actions have resulted always from sincere conviction.

Indeed, my happiest reflection comes from the voluntary expressions of confidence that continued to come to me from our citizens in all walks of life.

I am seeking the customary second term and sincerely believe that the experience gained in the past two years has fitted me for still more useful service to the city of which we are all so proud.

My platform again must be economy and business method in the city's government. I have no cliques or factions to reward, nor any element of our citizenship to discipline or punish. I believe that the so-styled "City Hall Brand of Politics" has been driven for good from the more progressive and enlightened American municipalities.

Your mayor should be your hired manager — at all times accessible, responsive to the community's best impulses and efficient in conduct of public affairs.

This is my pledge in return for your continued confidence at the election on November 8th.

Sincerely,

WILLIAM N. GABLEMAN,

Mayor

ROY CHAMBLIN TELLS ALL DETAILS OF MURDER OF JOHN W. NEWMAN AND MISS LOUISE DOYLE

Sheriff Rickey Discloses How Clues Were Followed That Led To The Arrest

When arraigned before Municipal Judge W. R. Sprague in the Sheriff's office this afternoon on two separate charges of murder in the first degree, Roy Chamblin, self confessed murderer of John W. Newman and Miss Louise Doyle, the gun user pleaded guilty to both charges.

"Are you guilty or not guilty?" Judge Sprague asked the prisoner who was leaning forward in his chair and surveying the spectators who encircled him.

Looking up he hesitated for a second and then said, "Guilty" in a strong audible voice.

"Do you wish to make any statement?" the court asked the prisoner.

"No, I have told the sheriff everything," Chamblin replied. He was denied bail and was returned to his cell to await the action of the grand jury which will reconvene Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock to take up his case.

When Chamblin was arraigned Sheriff Rickey, Deputies Rickey, Richards, Bennett, Attorney H. W. Miller, N. & W. Detectives Leslie and Pratt and others were present.

With Roy Chamblin, aged 27, Sheriff, I'm guilty. I'll tell you all about it. Started beyond expression at these words Sheriff Rickey could hardly repress his relief. The self-confessed murderer was sitting in front of him. He had arrested the right man in Cincinnati and lodged him in the Scioto county jail. Developments came thick and fast in the city's famous murder mystery. Slowly the veil of secrecy began to dissipate. There was no longer any conjecture about the sensational and mysterious affair. Speculation gave way to facts. The murder mystery was being solved.

Officials say that no coercion or force was used to wrest the confession from Chamblin and that he voluntarily related every incident leading up to the double murder.

When it became known Sunday morning that Chamblin had admitted his guilt of shooting down Newman and Miss Doyle, in the death cottage on the Scioto Trail on the night of Friday, October 21, the news created a big sensation. Little else was discussed in the city yesterday.

Chamblin Has Confessed. "Chamblin has confessed," were the words that passed from lip to lip. His admission of guilt came like a bolt from a clear sky as Sheriff Rickey late Saturday night had come to the conclusion that Chamblin was a hardened criminal and if he kept his lips sealed there was grave doubt about the heinous crime being fastened on him. However when Chamblin began to melt, his smile deserted him and he said: "Well, car on the Galena Pike when I ran out of gasoline."

"What did you do with the watch and chain?"

Chamblin gazed into an empty space. Then he slowly said: "I pawned them for $3 in a Cincinnati pawnshop on Sixth street, near Central avenue. I told the man who gave me the money that my name was A. C. Rhodes."

"Why didn't you take Miss Doyle's diamond ring?"

"I saw it on her finger as she lay on the floor but I did not think I had time to grab it. I was afraid some one heard the shots and would close in on me."

"How much money did you have when you reached Cincinnati?"

"Well I had $21 I got off the girl and the man and then I got $3 for the watch. I lived on that $24 until I was arrested."

"When searched after his arrest Chamblin had a little over two dollars in change."

"There is no use concealing anything. The world knows I did the shooting and I might as well tell you I robbed the bodies of the two victims."

When planned down that it was a fact that he had been around the cottage all evening with the view of robbing any person who entered it Chamblin remained silent.

Lifting his eyebrows, he slowly said, "No, that ain't so. I did not know any one was in the house until I saw a man pass the window."

When placed under fire the third time this morning Chamblin steadfastly refused to admit that Newman uttered one word or the woman before they were shot.

"I didn't give them a chance. I killed the man and then wheeled around and shot the woman. That's the whole truth. I never had robbery on my mind when I first entered the cottage."

Sheriff Rickey got in communication with Detective Hill of Cincinnati this morning and instructed the latter to see if Newman's watch had been pawned there for $3 by a man named A. C. Rhodes.

A short time later Detective Hill notified the Sheriff that the watch was located and would be forwarded here as soon as possible.

When Chamblin confessed to stealing the watch and money the officials say that the motive was no longer in doubt. They say the gun user entered the cottage with the sole intention of robbing any one he caught in it.

They also point to the fact that he had not worked for 15 months and must have received money from some source. This source, officials say was the holdup game he had been playing both on the Trail and near his home on the Galena Pike on the West Side.

Seated in a big comfortable chair, Roy Chamblin, in a steady, strong voice began to bare the secrets of the terrible crime. Slowly he told how he entered the death house on the fatal night first because he saw a man walking around in the front room.

"I know I didn't have any business there, but I just wanted to see what was going on," is his only excuse for entering the abandoned house and entering the abandoned house and entering the abandoned house.

After I secured it I left for the machine. In the right front pocket I found the woman's handbag. It contained $3," Chamblin said.

"What did you do with it?"

"I left it in the machine."

"What did you do with the billfold and Newman's watch and chain?"

"After I took the money out of the billfold, three five dollar bills and three ones I tossed it into the old car bed near where I had to stop the

THE CONFESSION

Confession of Roy Chamblin in the presence of E. E. Rickey, L. H. Einspanier, Albert Richards, B. F. Bennett and Frank W. Rickey at the Scioto County Jail on November 5, 1921, relative to the shooting of John W. Newman and Louise Doyle on October 21, 1921.

"On the night of October 21, 1921, I left the house of Ora Easter, my uncle, after supper and intended to go to Sherman Wilson's house in Houston's Hollow. I came across the river in a boat. I saw a machine standing on the road just below the entrance to the house where the bodies were found. I went up to the house and entered by the front door when some one threw a brick at me. I cut down on him three times and then shot the woman. I left the house, got in the automobile and drove through Lucasville over the bridge and on to the West Side. I left the auto stand where it was later found. I then got another boat and pulled my boat back over to the west side and then went home. The next morning I left for Manchester and on my way over on the ferry I threw the pistol in the river."

SHERIFF RICKEY IS CONGRATULATED

"Is this you, Sheriff?" "Yes." "Well, allow me to congratulate you on your wonderful work in clearing up the double murder mystery. You deserve a word of credit for the capable manner in which you ran down the gun user."

Hundreds of similar messages were received over the telephone yesterday by Sheriff Rickey.

one of the windows, he says. "Then I was that I decided to investigate."

Pulled Gun and Fired. Walking up the front steps leading to the porch, I walked into the front door of the house. The man threw something at me. I pulled my gun and started firing. After five shots had been fired, I left the house, walked down to the man's machine and drove it around to within 200 yards of my own home."

Confessed Murderer said. "I did not mean I had killed both of them until a few days later when I picked up a Morning Sun in West Union. Then I realized what I had done. The paper said both victims were killed outright and a search was being made for the gun-user. I'll admit from that time on I lived in fear, the fear of being arrested."

When Chamblin was arrested he was at the home of his cousin, Charley Watson, 1205 West street, Cincinnati. He was in the act of lighting a cigarette when an officer entered the kitchen of the Watson home and placed him under arrest.

With his arrest Sheriff Rickey felt confident the man I had been looking for a week and I was convinced that the gun-user was at last in the clutches of the law."

Sheriff Talks of Man-Hunt. "When I arrived in Cincinnati on Sunday, October 30, from Canada, I picked up an Enquirer, and the first thing I saw was the double murder," the sheriff said yesterday. "I figured the motive was jealousy, never for a minute entertaining the robbery theory. When I arrived home I immediately hunted myself about the murder."

It was my duty. Sometime ago I was told that a one-legged man had been holding up people on the Scioto Trail and not far from the cottage where the bodies were found. I went to that Many who could not get him over the telephone called in person and the office of the jail was crowded with visitors all day Sunday. They called to congratulate the sheriff and if possible to get a glimpse of the self-confessed gun user. Little else was discussed in all sections of the city yesterday and Sheriff Rickey came in for his full meed of praise for his clever work in rounding up the gun user.

Had No Regular Employment

Roy Chamblin admitted yesterday that he had no regular employment for the past 15 months.

The last job I had was at my trade as a sheetmetal worker and I worked for The F. H. Lawson company of Cincinnati. My father and mother are living apart and that is why my mother, Mrs. Eva Easter Paris lives in Manchester and my father in Shelbyville, Ind. I registered in the first draft, but was turned down on account of being a cripple."

He strenuously denied that some one else was implicated in the killing of Newman and Miss Doyle.

"I'll swear I did the job myself. Honest, Sheriff, no one was with me. I am telling the truth."

Saw The Hand Of Fate. "Just the minute that I ran out of gasoline I came upon me for the first time. Something told me I would get caught," Chamblin said today. "If I could have driven the car to the city and left it here the police would have thought the job was done by Portsmouth persons, but it was not to be."

When asked why he did not leave the gun lying on the floor to make it look like a suicide pact, Chamblin replied, "Why I guess I was not smart enough for that. My sole aim was to get away and get away quickly after the shooting."

section and made some inquiries about the one-legged man. I was told his name was Roy Chamblin. At the Wilson home I was told that Roy had not been seen there since about October 10. I was told he lived with an uncle, Ora Easter, on Pond Creek. Arriving at this home, I found Mrs. Easter there. When I asked her where Roy was she said he was at the home of his mother in Manchester. I asked her if he had taken all of his clothes.

Find Bloody Garment. She replied no and pointed to a grip in an adjoining room, which belonged to Chamblin. I secured the grip, opened it and found a pair of blood-stained overalls. Mrs. Easter told me they belonged to Roy. Then my clue began to take a tangible form. I felt positive I was on the right track. I left immediately for Manchester. There Mrs. Easter told me that her son presumably had gone to Cincinnati. I questioned her closely and made a careful search of her home, but no trace of Roy was found. However, Mrs. Easter did not hesitate in telling me where her son was. We made her believe that we were after Walter Chamblin on a moonshine charge. Of course she denied this as there is no Walter Chamblin, but this subterfuge worked out beautifully and we were soon on our

First Shot Down Man, Then Killed The Girl To Seal Her Lips, Murderer Says

Apparently oblivious to his impending fate and not realizing the enormity of his self-confessed crime, Roy Chamblin, aged 27, showed little concern over the double murder to which he had confessed when he loped comfortably in a big easy chair in the sheriff's office Sunday afternoon. His stoical indifference somewhat stunned the officials and newspapermen, who were present when Chamblin entered the room.

"Take that chair over there, Roy," the newspaper boys wish to ask you a few questions," the sheriff said.

As the youthful gun user sat down his deep grey eyes met those staring at him. His head drooped for a second, but only for a second and then he sat erect as he was ready to answer all questions. His shirt was unbuttoned, he wore no collar and his light hair hung loosely over his forehead.

"Well, how do you feel, Roy?" a Times man asked him.

"Oh, pretty well, under the circumstances. I have felt a whole lot better." His voice quivered for a moment and his eyes rested on the floor.

Denies There Was Struggle. "What we would like to know is what did Newman and Miss Doyle say before you shot them. Did a struggle ensue? Did you kill them outright?"

"I don't think either one said a word. The man sank to the floor after I shot him and the woman tried to run out of the room. I stood in the doorway and she had no chance. After I shot her and saw her body sink to the floor I left the cottage and walked down to a car parked on the Trail, which I suppose was the man's I killed."

"Did the woman utter a scream? Did she beg you not to shoot, woman-like?"

"She did not utter a sound. I took no chances and cut them down before they had a chance to say anything."

"Was there a struggle between you and the man?"

"None whatever."

"Well, then, how did you get blood stains on your overalls?"

"I don't know. It was dark in the room and I did not see any blood. That is why I put my overalls in the grip the sheriff found in my uncle's house on the West Side."

"How many times did you fire?"

"There were five bullets in the chamber of my Harrington and Richardson 32 gun and I fired all of them. I guess one shot did not take effect. That's what they tell me."

Threw Shells In Ditch. "What did you do with the empty shells in your gun?"

"Why, I cupped them just before I climbed into the machine and threw them in a ditch along the Scioto Trail."

"Isn't it a fact that you shot the woman at close range?"

"I don't think so."

"How do you account for the fact that she had powder marks on her undergarment? Didn't you put the muzzle of the gun against her breast and snap the trigger of your gun?"

"I might have been closer than I thought, but I didn't put the gun to her breast. In fact I hesitated a moment about shooting the woman. I thought she would scream if I let her go and she could call help before I could get away. A million things ran through my brain. Finally I thought that dead people tell no tales and I gave her the same dose as the man."

Chamblin's eyes stared into his lap. Then he twitched his long hair nervously. He seemed to regret the shooting of Miss Doyle. Regaining his composure he calmly and in a perfectly composed way told in detail every move he made on the fatal night. His story in detail:

Rowed Across the Scioto. "It was about 7 o'clock on Friday night, October 21, when I left my uncle, Ora Easter's home on Pond Creek. I walked over to the Scioto river, secured my boat and rowed across. I got out and walked to the Scioto Trail, hitting it about the Five Mile church. Then I started for Houston Hollow. There I wanted to see a friend by the name of Wilson. By passing the cottage where the shooting took place I could save lots of steps. It is a short cut. As I neared the cottage I saw a man moving around in the front room. It was moonlight and I saw another person moving around. I walked up the front steps and as I opened the front door a man threw a brick or something at me. Then I pulled my gun, which I had concealed in the right front pocket of my overalls and started firing. I emptied my gun. I think I shot the man three times and the woman once."

Then Aimed At Head. The man didn't fall the first two shots and then I aimed at his head. He fell in a heap. Then I walked down to the dead man's car, climbed into it and drove around to the West Side by way of Lucasville. Just as I got to the forks of the road on the Galena Pike and the Pond Creek road the machine ran out of gasoline. I was in the middle of the road and ran the car over on the side on its battery, taking this step to keep from blocking traffic. Then I walked to Ora Easter's house. I did not tell him anything about the shooting. I gathered some clothes together and the next morning I started for Portsmouth.

"A farmer picked me up and gave me a lift from Pond Creek to Dry Run. There I caught the auto bus and came into Portsmouth. I bought a ticket for Manchester and boarded the ferryboat about noon."

Threw Gun in the Ohio. "As the ferry neared the middle of the river I walked over to the railing and while no one was looking I dropped the gun into the river. After I got on the train I started for Manchester. My mother lives there and I spent several days with her. Then I went to West Union and while there I picked up a Morning Sun and that was the first intimation I had that the bodies had been found and that I had really killed the man and woman whom I found in the house. Then I began to worry. I returned to Manchester and told my mother I was going to Concord, Ky. After I arrived there I decided to catch a freight train into Cincinnati, which I did. I was in the kitchen of the home of my cousin, Charles Watson, 1205 West street and had just lighted a cigarette when I heard a man walk into the house. I began to feel uneasy then. The man, who turned out to be an officer took hold of my arm and said I was wanted at the police station. Watson asked me what the trouble was. I did not answer him. The detective said I was wanted on a box to two men and they brought me to Portsmouth. That is every step I took after the shooting."

Plans Miscalculated. I had no intention of leaving the machine so near my home. My plan was to drive it into Portsmouth so people would think that local persons did the shooting. I guess some one worked against me, as if the car had been driven to the city they never would have thought I did the shooting. After I learned that the car was without gasoline I walked down to the Scioto, secured another boat and went over after mine. I did this to throw off suspicion."

When asked if he had been at the cottage other nights and that he had been hanging around there to holdup couples, Chamblin's eyes snapped with defiance. "When Wilson lived in it I spent sometime around there. I had not been in or around the cottage since he moved out of it two weeks before the shooting," Chamblin said.

"No, I did not shoot the man and woman to rob them. I didn't take a thing off them. I do not know whether he had a watch or not. I did not see the girl's rings. I know she had light hair and wore a light coat."

Scaled Her Lips. When asked how long he thought the couple had been in the room before he came along Chamblin said he did not know. When again asked if he did not shoot the woman down in cold blood he snapped back, "I guess I am half human. I killed her so her lips would be sealed against me."

Did you have any idea who the couple was?"

"No. I did not try to find out. All I tried to do was get away and I guess I did a poor job of that."

Do you drink, Roy?"

"No sir. I haven't taken a drink in many years."

"Well, this is one murder that cannot be laid at the door of John Barleycorn," some one replied.

"No murder is ever laid at the door of whiskey. It is the man who does the shooting and the whiskey. I did the shooting and didn't have a drink," was the philosophical reply of the gun user.

"You know some people are not as bad as they are painted," Chamblin said as he puffed away on a cigarette he was handed. He seemed to enjoy its companionship and brightened up considerably as he smoked it.

"Don't suppose you slept well the past two weeks or ate much, did you, Roy?"

"Oh, not very. I was not very contented and felt all along I would be caught. If they had not arrested me Saturday I would have been on my way to my father's home in Shelbyville, Ind. My artificial leg is bothering me and I was going to take it back to the firm I bought it from over there and have them fix it."

Has Enjoyed Long "Loaf". When asked how long it had been since he had worked, Chamblin said it was 15 months ago.

"I am a sheet metal worker and my last work was for The F. H. Lawson company of Cincinnati."

When asked if it were true that he had been holding up couples on the West Side the past summer Chamblin entered a strong denial to this statement.

"I caught a couple in the church yard at Rushtown several weeks ago and chased them out of it but I did not pull a gun on them," Chamblin said.

"Well, Roy, you held up women on the Trail near the Bauman farm several months ago; at least, their description of the highwayman fits you exactly," said Sheriff Rickey.

Chamblin's head drooped at this statement and he twirled his fingers nervously.

"I guess there are other crippled people in this world besides me."

"When asked why he used his gun so lustily on Newman and Miss Doyle, Chamblin quickly replied: "I was brought up to take no chances. When you get in a jam like that you want to get out. You haven't time and it is no place for thinking. It is time to shoot. When the man threw a brick or something at me I brought my gun into play."

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—How long has the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, Ohio, been in operation? Does all the paper money that is stamped for this bank bear the same date that the bank went into operation, and what is the Federal Reserve Bank Act?

JAGGARS

In 1913 the Federal Reserve Act substituted for the national banking system a new banking structure which provides (1) an elastic bank note issue and (2) combination of banking resources, thereby preventing the panics inevitable under the provisions of the old law. It divides the country into twelve districts. In each district there is a federal reserve bank whose capital is furnished by the "member banks," composing all the national banks (and some of the state banks) within the district. The primary function of the Federal Reserve banks is to hold the reserve of the member banks, and to issue federal reserve notes. Any member bank may deposit its commercial paper—notes and bills discounted for customers—and receive in exchange reserve notes. The essence of the system is the consolidation of the country's banking resources in such a way that credit and currency will be available wherever and whenever needed. Under the successful operation of the act, the Federal Reserve banks are coming to hold the bulk of the country's gold in twelve centers, where it is utilized as a reserve for the nation's credit and a bulwark against any crisis which might occur. The two nearest Federal Reserve banks to this city are located in Cleveland and Louisville, Ky. The date on all Federal Reserve bills means the year they were issued.

Dear Dolly—I would like to know where the Daylight Savings plan originated and how many countries are using it now? EARLY RISER

Benjamin Franklin originated the idea, but the modern proposal came first from William Willett, an Englishman, who in 1907 published a pamphlet entitled "Waste of Daylight." Germany adopted the measure in 1916. Within a short time Holland, Austria, Turkey, England, France, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Italy, Switzerland, Spain, Portugal and parts of Canada followed. The United States adopted the movement during the war in order to save fuel and light. Many cities in the United States still set their clocks ahead one hour, from May 1 to October 1. The citizens of Portsmouth will have an opportunity to vote for or against the measure at the polls tomorrow.

Dear Dolly—How old is General Ferdinand Foch?

He is 70 years of age.

Dear Miss Wise—I have a lot of fancy work I would like to sell. Do you know of any place I could sell it? The pieces would make nice Christmas presents. MRS. J. M. T.

To sell crocheted work is rather hopeless. People who like fancy work usually learn how to do it themselves. You might see some of the local stores and maybe they would place it on exhibition for you, or sell it on commission for you. There are also several church bazaars to be given between now and Christmas and you might make arrangements with the different committees to sell it for you on a 50-50 basis.

Dear Miss Wise—I am going to have a party soon and I want to serve cocoa. Will you please tell me how to make good cocoa. What I make isn't very good. BLUE EYES.

Here's the way I make it: One and one-half tablespoons cocoa, two tablespoons sugar, 2 cups milk, 2 cups boiling water. Add sugar and a pinch of salt to cocoa, mix with one-half cup boiling water, stir to a smooth paste; add the remaining water and boil one minute, add scalding milk and beat with an egg beater to prevent scum forming. Of course, you will have to double this recipe many times to make enough for a party.

CONFESSIONS OF A MOVIE STAR

CHAPTER XIX—CISSY SHELDON PROPOSES TO ME

"TENDER little hands!" Cissy murmured as I placed wet cotton on his bruised forehead. "May, I've never had much tenderness from a woman."

"Your mother?" I reminded him. "There are mothers—and mothers!" Cissy sighed. "Mine wasn't much like your Mother dear. Mine wasn't especially fond of her children."

"I see," said I, but I really did not understand how any woman with children could be unlike my own sympathetic and self-sacrificing Mother dear.

Very suddenly Cissy grew sentimental: "I'm not fit to make love to you, May! But girl, how I need you! Can't you see for yourself how I've come along since I've been acting with you?"

My heart stopped beating! Could it be that I was the girl who had reformed Cissy Sheldon?

"I'm so glad I've helped, Cyrus!"

The answer is easy

HEINZ OVEN BAKED BEANS with Tomato Sauce

Ask, "Who wants Heinz Baked Beans?" and all hands go up. With good reason too. The taste is unforgettable. The reason lies in the oven baking—dry heat ovens as of old.

But the delicacy of the dish is enhanced by the luscious tomato sauce which Heinz makes so well from the choicest red ripe tomatoes.

It is a mighty good food for growing children—and for you, whoever you are.

One of the 57

The boy never liked to have me use his nickname.

"Then keep on helping me! Marry me!"

"I didn't reply. I seemed to be acting a part. I stood outside the frame and saw Cissy proposing to me in a picture. I did not forget myself for one second. And I felt affected and unreal."

But Cissy was serious enough to be convincing.

"They say, in the company, that you know what love is, May. I wouldn't demand what you couldn't give, little girl. That sounds queer, I know. But I'd like the chance of taking care of you, May! You ought to have a husband. I've been thinking about it ever since that night you went off to dinner with Rose."

"Cissy, what's a frame-up?" I asked impulsively, forgetting that the poor boy was laying his heart at my feet.

"Nothing I could make you understand. What you've asked simply proves you ought to marry me. Now—are you going to listen to me? Marry me. Give me the tenderness I need and I won't ask more. I need you—and you certainly need me or a man as strong as I. Nobody—no man—is fit for you, dear!"

"But Cissy! I'm taking care of you now! Why can't I again, without marrying you?"

"May Scott! Have you heard what I've been saying? Oh—oh—HECK! The studio crowd is right—you do NOT know anything about love! I'm sorry I annoyed you, dear. But the words just came. I knew I hadn't a chance!"

His smile registered hopelessness. I felt awfully sorry.

If loving hurts people so, why are they so anxious to fall in love? So I wondered.

As soon as I reached home, I told Mother dear what Cissy had said.

"I'm ashamed, Mother dear! I'm ashamed to confess that I almost giggled! And Cissy was so much in earnest!"

"Hysteria!" Mother dear explained. "It afflicts many a girl when first a man takes love."

"I seemed to me that we were acting. I continued. 'I saw myself, and Cissy, working on a set, all the time he talked. But I learned—from the experience.'"

"What?"

"I think I never can fall in love with any man!" I announced positively to a very astonished Mother dear.

"DREAM STREET"

A Dramatic Comedy Suggested by Characters of Thomas Burke

A tip-toe byway of this teeming world of lovers

Where Good Love and Bad Love Meet on the Common Level of Romance

D.W. GRIFFITH'S

Masterful depiction of The Love of Two Brothers

Each for the other... and their love for the same girl

A Love That causes them to tear at each other's throat one instant... draw to each other's bosom in another

The Eastland Theatre Presents for an Intimate Engagement Beginning Tonight, D. W. Griffith's newest production "Dream Street," a Dramatic Comedy suggested by characters of Thomas Burke. With the Special Griffith Thematic Musical Score and the entire New York production—shows at 1:30, 3:15, 6:30 and 8:30. Prices 15 cents. Tax included.

NOTE: The Eastland Orchestra will be under the Direction of our new musical director, Professor Lane Jenkins.

D. W. Griffith comes to us again with a new production which has been acclaimed a work of art and the most unusual story of symbolic love and romance. This new Griffith work is "Dream Street." It will be seen at the Eastland Theatre for four days beginning tonight.

"Dream Street" has been called a dramatic comedy. The characters were suggested by those of Thomas Burke in his Lincolnshire stories. While they may be from "Glimpse of Chinatown" and "The Sign of the Lamp" still these characters are found in all the corners of the world where romance, love and beauty hold sway. They came through wistful windows out in their Street of Dreams and one cannot help feeling them as they pass along life's highway amid their tragedies and comedies of existence.

There are three personages standing out like classic models of great art. They are Gypsy Fair, "Spoke" McFadden and his brother "Billie." This trinity of youth evolved the tense and teeming story of "Dream Street."

Sway Wan, a Gypsy Chinese gambler, is a desiring Gypsy and so he plots to attain his end. In the symbolism of the story there comes forth the Good one, typified by a Street preacher and the Evil influence shown through the nomadic violins who charms under the spell of music and causes wickedness to temporarily triumph.

Carol Dempster is the Gypsy Fair while Ralph Graves and Charles Emmet Mack enact the roles of the McFadden brothers. There is a specially arranged musical score.

"DREAM STREET" IS A DREAM- LAND GRIFFITH FILM

Its Charm and Poetry Has Never Been Pictured Before Anywhere

"Dream Street," the new D. W. Griffith picture, is a charming little voyage through a land that is distinctly Griffithian.

In a foreword to the picture, he says it is not Lincolnshire, nor London, nor New York, nor High Street. It is just one of the fascinating lands of Nowhere that Mr. Griffith invents.

It has the most charming and poetic landscapes of any of the countries into which he has wandered.

With the actors you seem to roam through the diamond disk of strange old alleys, with their dirt and their perfume and the odd life goes laughing through the shadows.

With the queer sardonic Chinaman you tread stealthily stairways that seem to creak with memories and confessions or with Gypsy Fair, the adorable little dancer, you trip measures in the sunshine of broad walks and little courtyards.

Sometimes you are upon the docks with the masts and spars of the shipping black against the starry sky. Again, you are in funny stuffy little dressing rooms which seem to have the age and traditions of the real.

If you want to insure your car, or property of any kind, we would be pleased to do it for you. Office open evenings from 6 to 9 o'clock.

A LAST WORD---

If California were attacked tomorrow morning by Japan with the only purpose of revenge upon this single state and positively no danger to any other state, yet would not every other state in the Union rise up in arms in response to California's appeal for protection?

Our fathers fought for liberty. Our Constitution guarantees equal rights and privileges to all. But it is left to the voters to safeguard these rights thro' the Ballot. The pages of the history of our Country glow with tribute to a people who have always stood ready to assist the oppressed peoples of the world.

Will the distressed schools in Scioto county call for help in vain?

The PEOPLE'S CANDIDATES have championed their cause. And they now appeal to you, Men and Women Voters who may be living where your schools may be safe and satisfactory, to come to their assistance. We know you are for good schools, not only for yourself but for your neighbor's schools. You are not so selfish and so self-centered that you cannot hear their cry. IF ONLY ONE SCHOOL AND THAT SCHOOL WERE THE SMALLEST ONE IN THE COUNTY—STILL YOU WOULD NOT TURN A DEAF EAR. But there are many schools in your sister townships calling. We didn't have money enough to tell you about them all—no, not half the story. But in two short paragraphs we did tell you about Valley Township. Here the Charter has been twice revoked. This our opponents have not and cannot deny. Nor have they attempted to refute the words of the Attorney General of Ohio when he said in substance that "No power had the authority to deprive children of their rights to a good school simply for revenge."

No, not even one child, if that child were yours!

Are you ready, Men and Women of Scioto County, Tuesday morning, November 8th, to add your signature to another Declaration of Independence—this time to free all the schools of your County from Political Despotism?

We believe you are and that you will solidly support THE PEOPLE'S CANDIDATES.

Writes Card On City Politics

To the Voters of Portsmouth—

In regards to our honorable candidate for mayor on the Republican ticket, George Matthews, coming out and trying to play both ends of the horn on his promises of what he will do if he is elected mayor of Portsmouth; telling the Christian element what he will do for them, closing the town up on Sundays, that there will be nothing going but the clock, and that will even stop; and then he comes out with a talk in Seabrook, stating and contradicting his previous statements and says there will be no blue laws in this city if they put him in office. I am going to ask the voters if they can trust a man of that kind with the welfare of the city?

I, as one voter and tax-payer, say NO.

And then the Honorable Mr. Matthews comes out with his past record of his doings when in the legislature and what he has done. I will say he did wonderful things.

The first thing he did to honor and help the laboring class of people was to vote against a bill that was up in the Workingman's Compensation law, where if a man had an occupation where he would be subject to a disease that the state would pay him enough of his salary to keep him and his family until he was able to go back to work. And the Honorable Mr. Matthews was the only one out of 109 voting against it.

And second, Matthews took the floor and put up an awful fight to get the State Constabulary into the State of Ohio, one of the greatest enemies to labor that there is! Oh, yes, a wonderful man for some things.

And third, he says he is going to lower taxes, and how is he going to do it? He says by cutting the wages of every city employee, and to think the Hon. Mr. Matthews is going to get higher taxes. Is the working class of people ever going to wake up and think they have enough of that kind of men in office now, always ready to cut the working wage and do everything in their power to hold him down. If the laboring class of people do not stick together we will be worse than they are in Russia. Can we live on promises? I hardly think so. I am neither a Republican nor a Democrat, but I believe in voting for the man, and I really believe the Honorable Mayor William N. Gadsden has proven the last two years he is the man for that office. He is with the people and for the people and shows no more favors for one person than another, no matter

Pottsville, Pa.—"I suffered with female trouble for four or five years and was very irregular. I was not fit to do my work at times and took medicine from a doctor and got no benefit. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the newspapers and took it at times and look at me now! I gained twenty pounds or more and am now able to do my work. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. SALLIE SWEENEY, 313 W. Fourth Street, Pottsville, Pa.

The everyday life of many housewives is a continual struggle with weakness and pain. There is nothing more wearing than the ceaseless round of household duties and they become doubly hard when some female trouble makes every bone and muscle ache, and nerves all on edge. If you are one of these women do not suffer for four or five years as Mrs. Siefert did, but profit by her experience and be restored to health.

who he may be, on the square with all in every thing and everywhere.

I really believe the voters of Portsmouth, women and men alike, should stop and consider the records of both candidates before voting and you will find what I have said is true about the Hon. Mr. Matthews. He is just playing the game of Judas to get in office. You can feel some of the people some time, but you cannot fool all of the people all of the time, and I believe this is one time the people of Portsmouth are not going to be fooled by the mud-slinging of Hon. Mr. Matthews and his clique.

Still there was one young man, supposed to partake largely of the "Johnny" species, who, it was thought, might be brought up to the scratch. With this in view, the dowager asked him sweetly one afternoon: "And now, Charlie, dear, I must really ask you what your intentions are?" But Charlie was not such a "Johnny" as they supposed; for he rose from his seat, bowed to his hostess and made for the door. "Madam," he paused to reply, "I make it a rule never to have an intrigue with a married woman."

MAN HIT BY AUTO, KNOCKED UNDER CAR; LOSES ONE LEG, MAY LOSE THE OTHER

Frank Huffman, 31, well known young man of New Boston, will be crippled for life and had a narrow escape from death about 6 o'clock Sunday evening when struck and knocked under the street car tracks by an automobile and was run over by a front wheel of the street car, before the motorman could bring his car to a stop. The near-fatal accident occurred on Gallia street just east of the first alley east of Conley's soft drink parlor.

The injuries sustained by Huffman were very dangerous, both legs being broken and crushed, right ear torn off, lower jaw broken, serious scalp wounds and a deep and long gash in his back near the hips. The right leg had to be amputated this morning just above the knee. It was thought that the left leg would have to be amputated just below the knee, but this morning the physicians decided not to take it off at this time, although it may be necessary to amputate it later, to save the man's life.

Huffman and Carl Farmer, secretary of the New Boston Republican Club, had been at the home of Roy Coburn, campaign manager, on Gallia street, just west of Ohio avenue, and just east of where the man was run over by the street car. The man was at the Coburn home only a few minutes according to Mr. Coburn, who says they were discussing tomorrow's election. They left the Coburn home and meant to catch a main line street car. Farmer was some distance ahead of Huffman and Huffman told him to go ahead and stop the car at Conley's and he (Huffman) would be able to catch it. Farmer was ahead and ready to stop the car when he heard Huffman yell and turned just in time to see Huffman lying in the middle of the car tracks with the street car only a few feet away from him. Farmer rushed back to the street car and when he saw his friend under the wheels he turned his head and walked away, not being able to stand the sight that met his gaze.

Later it was learned that a touring car driven by Harry Grubb of Portsmouth had struck Huffman and knocked him onto the car track. Grubb pulled his machine to the north curb and stopped at once but not before the street car had caught the man and dragged him under the car wheels. Grubb claims that he did not see Huffman, who darted right out in front of the machine toward the middle of the street.

Street car conductor James McTuttyre and Robert Noble, who lives on Gallia street where the accident occurred, pulled the mangled form of Huffman from under the car. Huffman's left foot was caught under the front wheel of the car and his body was crosswise of the track. Luckily the car stopped where it did or the trunk of the body would have been cut in twain by the rear wheels of the car.

The street car was coming down the hill from Ohio avenue and according to Motorman George Chipley he threw the car into reverse when he noticed the automobile near the car track. With the car in reverse it stopped after going only a few feet after catching Huffman's body.

Lynn's ambulance took Huffman to Hampstead hospital, where Drs. Albert Bernat, B. S. Halderman, W. A. Quinn and W. G. Chetney dressed his injuries.

An examination of the body showed the right leg crushed at the knee, the joint being pulverized where the car wheel passed over it. A compound fracture of the left leg below the knee, left foot and ankle crushed and broken bits of bone protruding through the flesh, lower jaw fractured, right ear torn off, deep scalp wounds and a deep wound in the back. The car was seen in place.

Huffman refused to consent to having his legs amputated last night, but after a more careful examination of the injured leg the physicians decided to amputate upon Huffman's necessity of having the leg taken off to save his life.

This morning, though, it was not found necessary to take off the left leg at this time, although it is in such a condition that amputation is thought to be necessary to save his life.

Huffman is married and lives at Ohio and Gallia avenue, New Boston, just a short distance from where the accident occurred. He is a heater in the steel plant and had worked several times as deputy marshal under Mayor J. S. Davis.

In the discharge of the duties of this important position which, by the way, are many, Mr. Chandler has been both diligent and accurate in the keeping of all records and accounts, as well as discharging most successfully the duties of Clerk of Council. Besides the Auditor's office under Mr. Chandler's administration has met the approval of the State Bureau of Public Inspection. This young man should be re-elected."

VOTE "YES" ON DAYLIGHT SAVING

Health - Happiness - Contentment - Enjoyment Out In God's Sunshine - Where Everybody Can Get Their Full Share Of Enjoyment And Fun Out Of Life.

There is but little question of the success of the Daylight Saving question which will be submitted to the electorate on Tuesday, November 8th. The people of Portsmouth are of the progressive sort of folks and during the summer months—the best time to live and let live—they will have "one more hour of fun" when fathers and mothers can be out in the sunlight with their children and when the kiddies can romp and play and sing and shout to their heart's content.

From a health standpoint, there is nothing more important for us all than an hour more of sunshine. Physicians say so, scientists say so and we know from experience. Getting up early never hurt a farmer—getting up an hour earlier is what paints the glow of health on the cheeks of boys and girls. Have you ever heard them sing:

"Oh, it's nice to get up in the morning,
When the sun begins to shine;
At 4 or 5 or 6 o'clock
In the good old summer time."

And say, folks, isn't it great to go out to the ball yard on Seventeenth street and witness a struggle between two evenly matched teams! It is estimated that fully 200,000 people saw the games last season—200,000 people at least provided with glorious fun—where they got better acquainted—where they could yell and whoop—where their blood ran riot, sending a healthy glow to their cheeks. The Industrial Baseball League will not exist unless we endorse Daylight Saving—and it is too good a thing for us to allow to die.

Then there is golf—tennis—horseshoes—boating—automobile—fishing—swimming—and last but not least a little garden in the back yard, where we can help the 'taters grow and the tomatoes ripen. It's great, friends, to carry into the kitchen a basketful of vegetables from our own backyard. The joy of it all! The thrill that comes once in a life-time.

Portsmouth people were the happiest folks on earth last summer—they were contented despite the gloomy business outlook, because they forgot all about the uncertainty of conditions in the pursuit of their favorite outdoor recreation. Let the majority for Daylight Saving be so overwhelming that the question will be decided once and forever.

VOTE "YES"

THE LABOR REVIEW

Endorses Daylight Saving

The leading editorial in the November 5th issue of the Labor Review was as follows:

"DAYLIGHT SAVING"

"The Labor Review believes it voices the sentiment of more than 99 per cent of the laboring people of Portsmouth when it advocates the ratification of the Daylight Saving proposition, which will be submitted to the electorate on next Tuesday, November 8th. In this day and age of the world, it is well to revive that old adage, 'All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy.' The extra hour of daylight during the summer months gives one an opportunity to indulge in outdoor activities, such as baseball, golf, horse-shoes, tennis, auto-mobiling, boating, to say nothing of stirring up the garden in one's back yard. Of course, we don't all play baseball, nor do we all own an automobile, tennis racket, etc. But many there are among us who like to witness a game of baseball—like to go out to the Industrial League grounds and root for our favorite team. Can't you recall the great contests of this last season, when those Central Labor Council lads fought like fury to down their adversaries? Those were the happy days, friends, and we want more of them the coming summer. Without Daylight Saving, the Industrial League will not survive, and we are saying it in all candor that many a troubled heart was soothed by attending the baseball games last summer. You well recall that many men and women were without work—many were heart-sick over the outlook. But they went to the ball games, and there forgot their troubles and found themselves happy once more. The Industrial League provided high-class entertainment to thousands without the cost of a penny. What anyone gave to support the league was in the nature of a free will offering. What is true of baseball will apply to all outdoor activities. It's getting out in God's sunshine that keeps a man young and paints a woman's cheek. Health-giving sunshine is a sure cure for all ills. We all want the Daylight Saving proposition to pass by such a handsome majority that no one can ever question the sentiment of the good folks of the Peerless City. The laboring people need Daylight Saving more than any other class. So remember, the Central Labor Council team wants to win that 'rag' next summer, so vote for it and work for it, and get your neighbors and your friends to do likewise."

Daylight Saving Has Proven Popular

(Brockton, Mass., Daily Enterprise)

A committee of the Boston Chamber of Commerce declares that the fourth year of daylight saving for Massachusetts has been "an unqualified success." Although this was the only State to observe the new time by State law the practice has been carried out by municipal ordinance in practically all the eastern States. Some cities are continuing it through October. This year 72 cities in New England outside of Massachusetts observed the plan, in Rhode Island 59 per cent of the population practiced it, and in Connecticut more than 60 per cent despite the State law against it. In New York and New Jersey daylight saving was applied to 75 per cent of the population. The Boston committee adds that "the shortage of farm labor, which led to much of the agricultural opposition to daylight saving, has been relieved this year. The enthusiasm of the city dweller for daylight saving has again shown itself by the widespread use of the extra daylight hour in the evenings for gardening, organized athletics and recreation."

There are indications throughout a widespread territory that sections which have experienced the benefits of the added daylight for the summer period will work actively for its adoption by Congress.

Daylight Saving Committee, Fred Lorey, Sec.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a Glass of Sals If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Troubles You

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms lactic acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidney or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Advertisement.

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

Get a small package of Hamburg Brest Tea at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of this Hamburg tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoonful at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

SULPHUR CLEARS ROUGH, RED SKIN

Face, Neck and Arms Easily Made Smooth, Says Specialist

Any breaking out of the skin, even dandruff, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any food drugstore and use it like cold cream.—Advertisement.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS
 NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—United States Steel and General Asphalt were the only important exceptions to the higher trend of prices at the opening of today's stock market. Mexican Petroleum, Standard Oil of New Jersey and Houston Oil each gained one point and advances of one to two points were made by various industrials and specialties including Chandler Motors, Inspiration Copper, New York Dock preferred and Jones Brothers Tea. Liberty bonds gave early promise of extending last week's substantial gains. The 3 1/2% advanced ten points to the year's highest record at 95.90, the second 4 1/2% two points to 94.75 and the fourth 4 1/2% twenty points to 95.20. On the first demoralization showing in the London market, German marks broke sharply here to the new minimum of 36 1/2 cents.

Favorite issues of the steel, equipment, shipping and secondary oil group gave way to pressure during the morning with some of the motors, tobacco and chemicals but rails were listless. Preferred shares of obscure character, such as American Car, Brown Shoe and Westinghouse first preferred, rose 2 1/2 to 5 points on limited dealings. Prices hardened again before noon on Mexican Petroleum's extreme rise of 3 points. Liberty 4 1/2% were included among the new high records for government bonds on the current movement, but all liberty issues as well as victory notes reacted after profit taking. Call money opened at 5 per cent.

The listless and narrow movement on the stock exchange today was dominated by professional shorts and firming money tendencies. Sales approximated 475,000 shares. The closing was irregular.

Murder Case

way to Cincinnati. There we learned that Chamblin had been at the Watson home, but had gone to the home of relatives at California, O., 14 miles from the Queen City. We waited till they returned at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon and he was promptly arrested.

Sheriff Rickey worked up the clues step by step in his own way and is being highly praised for the clever manner in which he unraveled the mystery, which ultimately led to the arrest and full confession of the gun user. From the time he learned Chamblin was missing he says he felt sure that if he were found he would have the right man.

"I knew I had my man when I got hold of Chamblin Saturday. There was no longer any mystery about the killing of Newman and Miss Doyle," the sheriff said.

How Confession Was Secured

"When I entered Roy's cell early Sunday morning, L. H. Einspanger, well known N. & W. detective, Deputy sheriffs B. F. Bennett, F. W. Rickey and Albert Richards were present. I looked Chamblin in the face and said: Roy, why did you do that?"

"What do you mean?" Chamblin quickly asked.

"You know what I mean and you had better tell us all about it."

With his head resting on his breast and without looking at any one, Chamblin said: "Well, I'll tell you. I did the shooting. I killed the man and woman whose dead bodies were found in the cottage on the Scioto trail."

Sheriff Rickey looked at the confessed murderer and then glanced at his assistants. He could hardly realize what had happened. Then Chamblin had told it all. He admitted his guilt without equivocation. He did not spare any detail. Straightening up, he told what he had done before the shooting, how he used his gun, how he effected his getaway, how he ran out of gasoline and how he eventually fell into the hands of the Cincinnati police.

Through the trying ordeal he retained his normal composure. He was calm, collected and unperturbed. The pangs of the crime apparently had only started to grip him. He began to weaken, to resign himself to his awful fate. "Murder will out" was in the making. Local criminal history was being written.

Gun User Recognizes Overalls

When Sheriff Rickey took Chamblin's overalls to him, he examined them closely and said: "No, sheriff, they are not mine." When Sheriff Rickey pulled some fishing paraphernalia out of one of the pockets, Chamblin then admitted the trousers were his and he had them on the night he killed Newman and Miss Doyle. He admitted there were blood stains on the overalls but refused to say how they got there. They were found in the Easter home on the West Side, where the gun user left them.

"What Will Mother Say? Will She Forgive Me?" Asks Gun User

At 6 o'clock last night there was a loud rap on Chamblin's cell door. Deputy Sheriff Richards answered the call. He found the gun user in tears. It was the first time he had broken down. "Why did I do it. Why did I do it," Chamblin sobbed as if his heart would break.

"And what will my poor mother down in Adams county say when she hears what I have done? Chamblin asked the deputy.

"I know I'll have to give up my life, but that isn't worrying me. What will my mother say? Will she forgive me?"

How Watch Was Recovered

The sheriff of Adams county this morning called up Sheriff Rickey and told him that Chamblin while at West Union several days ago exhibited a gold watch there and that he had a new crystal put on it. Armed with this information Sheriff Rickey soon had a confession from Chamblin to the effect that he had pawned the watch in a Cincinnati pawn shop. He said he carried Newman's watch more than a week before putting it up for $3.00.

Sobbed While Songs Were Being Sung

When some church workers called at the jail last night to hold their weekly services Chamblin showed a great interest in their singing. When they sang "Nearer My God To Thee" and "When The Roll Is Called Up Yonder" the gun user walked over and sat down on the edge of his bunk in his little cell. He buried his face in his hands and sobbed aloud.

BODY OF MAN MURDERED AT CATLETTSBURG IS FOUND ADRIPT IN BOAT; RECOVERED AT GREENUP

Arthur Lakin, 34, married, Catlettsburg, Ky., was murdered Saturday night about ten o'clock in a fight on a shantyboat at South Point, O., directly opposite Catlettsburg. His lifeless form being found in a skiff floating down the Ohio river at Oliver, four miles below Greenup, Ky., Sunday.

James Sias, shantyboat owner, who it is alleged shot Lakin, is in the Catlettsburg jail, from where he will be taken to Ironton, as the crime was committed in Ohio.

Arthur Lakin was lock tender on the dam in the Big Sandy river at Catlettsburg. Saturday evening his brother, George Lakin of Hanging Rock went to Sias' shantyboat, having come to Catlettsburg to get his electric launch. George Lakin did not return when his brother thought he should and Arthur Lakin went to the shantyboat after him. It is said that Arthur Lakin and Sias, the owner of the shantyboat, got into a heated argument almost at once and that Lakin gave Sias a beating. During the latter part of the fight Sias, it is alleged, pulled his gun and fired. Later it is alleged he put the lifeless form in a skiff and set it adrift. When the trouble started on the boat George Lakin deserted his brother and went back to Catlettsburg.

Saturday night Arthur Lakin did not return home or to his work and his brother George then started to search for him. Securing several friends he went back to the boat and after finding his brother's hat and blood in the shantyboat the men took charge of Sias and made him accompany them to Catlettsburg.

Sias it is said admits firing a shot but says that he don't know whether it struck Lakin and claims he does not know how the man's body got into the boat in which it was found. George Lakin claims there was plenty of moonshine on the shantyboat and his friends who helped search the boat say there was moonshine there. The Smith and Wesson 32 caliber revolver which is claimed to have been used by Sias was found on the boat by the party headed by George Lakin.

The skiff with the body of Lakin was found just below the new dam at Oliver, Ky., Sunday morning by Henry Bowman, a shantyboatman who has his boat tied to the Kentucky shore. His wife noticed the boat coming down the river without any oars in it and from a distance it looked like it was empty. As it came nearer the form of a man on the floor was plainly seen by Bowman who yelled at the man thinking he was asleep. Unable to get an answer he rowed out to the skiff and then discovered the man had been shot. He took the body to Greenup where Sheriff Harvey Elam took charge and examined it.

The one bullet was fatal. It entered the abdomen and penetrated the liver. Skinner Bros., merchants at Greenup, and other persons identified the body as that of Lakin and Sheriff Elam ordered Undertaker Stant to prepare it for burial.

The body was taken to Catlettsburg today, funeral services to be held Tuesday.

Commonwealth's Attorney Coldron of Catlettsburg announced Sunday that investigators had found a complete moonshine still and mash on the shantyboat. Sias is said to be from Logan county, W. Va.

Attorney Coldron says that it has not been established that Sias set Lakin adrift in the skiff and that it was possible for Lakin to leave the boat unaided and that he died while attempting to row back to the Kentucky side of the river.

Lakin has three brothers, James, Harry and George Lakin.

PLAN FAREWELL FOR REV. AND MRS. OAKLEY

The Portsmouth Ministerial Association met in their monthly business session at the U. B. church this morning at 9:30 a. m. with President C. E. Severinghaus in the chair.

It was decided to continue last year's plan of grouping the churches of the city and suburbs for Thanksgiving services, and a committee was appointed to carry out the plan; Rev. B. B. Cartwright, Rev. Hugh J. Evans, Rev. C. E. Severinghaus, and Rev. Moore for Sciotoville and New Boston.

The Association was addressed by Henry F. Bertram on behalf of the Community Service drive, and the matter was put into the hands of a committee.

Foster Krake presented a plan for utilizing the combined choirs of three groups of Portsmouth churches in town, for vesper musical services. It was agreed to try the experiment, and if found satisfactory, to continue through the year.

The choristers of the West End churches—First Presbyterian, Blagow M. E., First Evangelical, Central Presbyterian and United Brethren churches—will meet Mr. Krake at his studio, over the Chamber of Commerce, Thursday afternoon at 4 p. m.

The Association's next meeting will be a social session, which will be held at the First Baptist church, Monday afternoon, November 21, at 3 p. m. The following pastors and their wives will be the hosts: Rev. Stewart R. Tills, Rev. Barnhart, Rev. H. A. Wright. The occasion will be in the nature of a farewell for Rev. and Mrs. Chas. Oakley, who will soon leave for their Chicago home. Rev. B. B. Cartwright as the oldest pastor in point of service, will be in charge.

Raises Row; Fined

Agnes Mitchell, 1816 Eighth street, was convicted of disorderly conduct at a hearing in Municipal court Monday and Judge Sprague ordered her to pay a fine of $5 and costs. The hearing disclosed that Mrs. Mitchell raised a row at the home of Mrs. Margaret Jones when she caught her husband there Sunday night.

Fifty-three railway vans carried the furniture of ex-Kaiser Wilhelm to Holland.

COURT HOUSE

Prisoners Arraigned

Seven of the persons indicted by the recent grand jury were arraigned before Judge Thomas in Common Pleas Court Monday forenoon and of these four admitted guilt and were sentenced and the other three pleaded not guilty and will stand trial.

Clifford Lewis, alias Frank E. Burns, aged 19 years, claiming Ironton as his home, admitted attempting to pass a bogus check issued on the Portsmouth Banking company in the name of John P. Davis, on Oct. 23, and he was sentenced to one year in the Mansfield Reformatory. Lewis explained to the court he was out of work and fell upon the bad check route as a means to raise some money.

Charles Jones, 24 years old, pleaded guilty under an indictment to stealing Dr. Carl Kraunlich's automobile from this city on the night of Sept. 25 and he was sentenced to spend from two to five years in the penitentiary. Jones told the court that he did not intend to steal the machine but simply took it in order to get to Ironton where he was apprehended. He is married and has a wife and two children living at Condale, W. Va., and stated that he was a railroad worker before losing an arm in an accident.

Thornton Delt, 44 years old, colored, pleaded guilty under an indictment charging him with gun toting and the court thought that a stay of from one to three years at the penitentiary would do him good in as much as a term which he previously had served in the same prison apparently did not reform him. Delt shot at a colored man named Felix Greer following an altercation at Eleventh and Waller streets on the night of Sept. 26, 1921.

Martin Banks, 22 years old, admitted guilt under an indictment charging rape with consent upon Flossie Sexton, 14-year-old Lura girl on Oct. 19. After hearing the story of the accused the court continued the case for further investigation.

Thomas Holland, of Mayaville, pleaded not guilty under an indictment charging him with burglarizing the soft drink establishment of Joe King, 117 Market street, on the night of Oct. 18, 1921.

Floyd Evans, West End young man charged with highway robbery, together with Glen Cutlip, in connection with the alleged theft of a watch from L. M. Tomlinson on the night of Sept. 30, pleaded not guilty. His bond was fixed at $1000 and Attorney W. L. Hostetter was appointed to defend him.

Attorney Thos. K. Funk was appointed to defend Ernest F. Conley, alias Ernest Flickinger, Columbus, who pleaded not guilty to three indictments of forgery. Conley is accused of forging the name of Fred Gorgons on checks issued for small sums on the First National Bank of this city during the latter part of September.

Christian Church

The Stewardship Rally being held at the church today, afternoon and night promises to be one of the best meetings of its kind in the history of the principles of Christ. The principal speakers will be Mrs. Manley Morton, a missionary to Paraguay, who will tell of the needs of the people in South America. She will speak this evening as will R. S. Muckley, field secretary of the United Christian Missionary Society. Mr. Muckley spoke at the local church yesterday and at night at Sciotoville. He is a fluent, forceful orator and no one can question his sincerity. He gave both audiences plenty to think about in his Lord's Day messages. The women of the church have arranged to furnish supper for the Sciotoville and New Boston folks who attend the rally this evening, supper furnished free at 5:30 o'clock.

Next Sunday will be the last chance to place in nomination candidates for the officers of Elders, Deacons and Trustees.

The official board of the church will meet this evening at 7 o'clock, session lasting but one-half hour in order to allow the members an opportunity to attend the Stewardship rally at 7:30.

Section Three will meet at the home of Mrs. Gilbert Willis, 1611 Officers street, Thursday afternoon.

Section Two will meet at the home of Mrs. O. J. Case, 251 Second street Thursday afternoon.

Sunshine is the housewife's best antidote. It is hard for a cold to thrive in a house flooded in sunshine. So forget the fact that sunshine fades rugs and hangings and let the sun shine in for all it is worth during those months when the sunshine is none too strong, anyway. To the Citizens Of Valley Township In Regard To The Charter Of Your High School

You have heard much said from time to time which placed the County Superintendent in an unfavorable light in your eyes in connection with the losing of your high school charter. Never before has he raised a protest against this nor has he attempted to defend himself. The time has come, however, when he thinks AS A MATTER OF JUSTICE TO HIMSELF when some facts ought to be laid before you, and then you may form your own unbiased opinion about the matter. To begin with let us get the history of the situation briefly. In 1914 Mr. Joseph Brant was a candidate for Member of the County Board of Education and F. S. Alley, the Superintendent at Lucasville was his candidate for the County Superintendent. You see it was alright THEN to know in advance who would be County Superintendent.

Mr. Brant and his colleagues were beaten and so Mr. Alley did not become County Superintendent. As County Superintendent he tried his best to work for your schools but avoided doing anything to cause friction for he was aware of a very "sore spot." In each of the first two years of his work there was a State Spelling Contest. He tried to have your schools enter into the county part of that contest for the championship of the county to represent us in the State Contest, but those in charge of your school would not, in either year. Why? (Sore spot). He tried to get your schools to send your school wagons in the Korn Carnival parade at Portsmouth but excuses were always given and it was never done. Why? He wanted your schools to enter the school Exhibit work at the Korn Carnival and not until he said that it looked to him like your High School Exhibit ought to win because it was the only High School in the county then having Manual Training and Domestic Science, was it done. Anyone can see that these two features would surely make the winning factor if the other parts of the Exhibits were equal.

He wanted your high school to enter the Track Meet Contest but it was not done AS A SCHOOL. He wanted your school to have Exhibits at the County Fair and had it not been for two High School boys getting your Manual Training work there it would not have been done by the authorities. Why? Your citizens made a fight on your local Superintendent. Mr. Joseph H. Brant, his friend, was a candidate. Mr. Brant's defeat was certain until he promised your people that he would not be for that Superintendent and then he was elected by only ONE majority. At that election Mr. John S. Violet was elected by a very large majority. Mr. Brant then became a member of your board for FOUR years. It was reported to Superintendent McKenley that there would be a vacancy declared in your superintendency. He attended a meeting of your board, and said that if there was not to be a vacancy he had no business there but that if there was to be a vacancy he had a duty to perform as County Superintendent in assisting them (not dictating to them) to get a properly qualified and efficient man. He made it very clear that it was not his purpose to choose the man but to assist them in getting the right kind of man. Although Mr. Brant seemed very reluctant to do so, yet the Board declared a vacancy unanimously. Then the County Superintendent asked the Board to vote whether they wanted his help or not and by a vote of 3 to 2 they voted for him to help. At the next meeting and by Mr. Brant's influence, the vote was reversed by 3 to 2 and a Superintendent was elected with no consideration given by the County Administration. For two years he worked independent of the County Administration and your schools were run CONTRARY TO THE SPIRIT OF THE LAW. You were paying a part of the salary of the County Superintendent and he was prevented from helping you unless he wanted to be a "figure-head," which he would not be.

Later, Superintendent McKenley was elected without reference to the County Superintendent. Superintendent McCowen, although not conferred with, thought that Mr. McKenley deserved the place and that he would succeed. He still regards Mr. McKenley as a splendid man.

He assured the Board repeatedly that as County Superintendent he was proud of the Lucasville schools and that he would be only too glad to assist in putting its standard as high as the people would support. Mr. Brant in the presence of your Board gave him to distinctly understand that the board always had run their own business and would do so without his help. He was given to understand to let them alone although he was their official under the law.

In 1918 your Supt. had one grade teacher teaching High School History for several months without a High School certificate as required by law. Later another teacher taught several high school branches, CONTRARY TO LAW. Incidentally in a conversation with your Supt. over phone he asked him about this matter. He seemed to resent it. But he said that he was only calling his attention to it for if not corrected it was bound to get his Board and himself into trouble. I also said that I was not going to do anything about it. He wrote that night and told the facts to the State Superintendent. I was ordered by the state to make an investigation and report. I did so. The state in reply to the letter of your Supt. said, May 3, 1918: "Your County Superintendent is to be commended for the excellent advice he gave you. He no doubt saw the rocks ahead. Were you to have continued such an organization of teachers in your school until the same may have come to the attention of the inspector, you would, no doubt, have lost your charter, etc."

I reported from both the legal and high school standards point of view stated "It is now plainly your case" and advised that the state make a personal investigation. Since the County Superintendent is held for the High Schools by the state you will see that I was only performing my duty, and if your school was alright would it need to fear an investigation? An inspector C. E. Oliver came in due time and made the inspection. He called your Board together and said to them that they must pass a resolution containing two assurances, first that they would employ only properly qualified teachers and second that they would co-operate with the County Superintendent as required by law. Your Board acted only on the first. This resolution from the State's letter to your Board dated June 5, 1918 is self-explanatory: "At the final meeting of the Board of High School Inspectors of the current year on June 4 (1918) on motion of Mr. Oliver, THE VALLEY TOWNSHIP HIGH SCHOOL CHARTER WAS REVOKED on the grounds that this department has not notice from your Board of Education of any action taken by it promising a conformity of the school laws in the future on all matters pertaining to the duties of the county school authorities."

THIS LETTER MAKES THE MATTER CLEAR:
C. E. OLIVER'S LETTER

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 3, 1921
Supt. E. O. McCowen
Portsmouth, Ohio

Dear Sir:—
You have asked me for a statement of facts as touching the revocation of the Valley Township high school charter in 1918, at my instigation. In the regular order of my duties and at the direction of the Department of Public Instruction, I visited the Valley township high school and made the usual inspection. I found that teachers were in the employ of the Board of Education, without holding regular certificates. I also found that the Board of Education, as then constituted, was not co-operating properly with the regularly constituted school authorities of the county. I asked that a resolution be passed by the Valley township Board of Education, promising the State Department full co-operation on the two points named above, as a prerequisite to allowing the charter to remain. In a resolution passed and forwarded to the State Department, the Valley township Board satisfactorily and fully covered the matter of employing only those teachers fully qualified and properly certificated. They neglected, or refused, however, to make written promise or co-operation and thereupon, I advised the State Superintendent to recall the charter.

Hoping that this may answer your question, I am
Yours respectfully,
C. E. OLIVER

The recall of your charter meant that your school must be under either a District or County Supt. To assist you best, the county board placed it under the County Superintendent. In due time things became right and the charter was restored next year. Your county superintendent was led to believe that every thing was finally settled satisfactorily and he worked hard to get your schools back to a good standard and they were put well on their way.

In regard to the loss of the charter the second time I will briefly explain: Have you been led to believe that the County Superintendent took your charter? He could never do so. The State Superintendent gives the charter and takes it away, usually on the recommendation of the Board of High School Inspectors after one of them has inspected the school. The State Superintendent did not think that an inspection was necessary the second time for he was not questioning the standard. But he took your charter on the ground that your Board had again defied the State.

Instead of going into extended discussion I will merely quote from the records on file in the State Superintendent's office. Anyone can see them as they are public. Quotation from letter of State Superintendent to J. S. Violet, president Board of Education, dated July 24, 1920.

"One requirement by the State Superintendent of Public Instructions is that the local school system must be properly articulated with the county system, which in turn, should be articulated with the State Department. The action of your board—has made a proper relation between your system and the county system impossible in that your action has been irregular and in direct opposition to the recommendation of your county superintendent of schools."

You are hereby given notice that unless this difficulty is adjusted at once the high school inspectors will be called in session in the near future for the purpose of considering the revocation of your high school charter."

The matter was not adjusted. Then this letter came.
Lucasville, Ohio, July 30, 1920
Mr. J. S. Violet (Pres.)
Your high school charter has been revoked for reasons well known to your board of education and such revocation is hereby entered on the records of this department.
Very truly yours,
VERNON M. REIGEL,
Supt. of Public Instruction

Supt. McCowen received this letter.
Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 6, 1920

Mr. E. O. McCowen
County Supt., Schools, Portsmouth, O.
Dear Mr. McCowen:—

You are hereby authorized and REQUESTED to get the charter of the Lucasville High School and forward the same to this department as soon as possible.

Very truly yours
VERNON M. REIGEL,
Supt. Public Instructions

Supt. McCowen was ordered to get the charter and send it to Columbus but he did not do it hoping the matter would be settled before school opened in September.

The cause of the trouble was cleared away and Supt. McCowen asked for the return of the charter. This letter explains:
(Copy)
Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 20, 1920

Mr. E. O. McCowen
County Superintendent of Schools, Portsmouth, Ohio
Dear Mr. McCowen:—

At your request the Lucasville charter is hereby restored and the same has been entered on the records of this office. It is hoped that all difficulties at Lucasville will be amicably and satisfactorily adjusted.

Very truly yours
VERNON M. REIGEL,
State Superintendent

The real reason the charter was taken as emphasized by the State Superintendent was because he felt that your Board defied the State in each case. Now that matter has been settled, he is sorry that he has been placed in the wrong light in the matter in your eyes. He is not responsible for that as you know he had a duty to perform as required by law and by the State Superintendent. He has tried to perform that duty. Mr. Brant has used his influence to have him DIS-CONNECTED with your schools. Was that fair or right?

YOUR BOARD DOES NOT HAVE AND NEVER DID A RULING FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL ON YOUR CHARTER CASE. If your attorney told the attorney general that some one did not like your Board he had no right to make such a statement. IN ONE OF THE QUESTIONS YOU INSINUATE that the Attorney General forced the return of the charter, AND YOU KNOW THAT IS NOT TRUE. A letter from Supt. Reigel, dated Aug. 24, 1920 says: "I state as my reason for revoking this charter, which I think is a valid one, the fact that the Board of Education openly and deliberately and against my advice violated the standards and requirements which the statute authorizes this Department to make, and upon which is based the classification and gradation of high schools."

Without going into details but sticking to the records above it will be seen that the County Superintendent has acted within his rights and attempted to perform his duty for the Lucasville schools. Supt. McCowen asks you to give him fair and unbiased consideration; to place the full share of blame for that trouble on J. H. Brant, to the extent he deserves and to vote for William Brant, Z. I. Turner and John S. Violet.

To The Voters And Taxpayers Of The Village Of New Boston, O.

J. S. DAVIS

New Boston, Ohio, Nov. 5, 1921
As Tuesday, November 8th, is election day, and as it has not been possible for me to see all the voters of the village personally, I take the opportunity of calling on you through the Portsmouth Daily Times, to let you know how I stand and what I stand for.

I have always stood for all or all things which would be of benefit to the village and its citizens. I have devoted most all my time for the last 20 years trying to make New Boston what it is today, and if I'm not elected Mayor next Tuesday I assure you that I will still continue to try to make New Boston better. The Republican candidates tell you that if they are elected they will build sewers, give you electric lights, a garbage collector and a great many other things that you already have. Now you know that there is nothing to be done in the way of public improvement for it has all been done, and I'm proud to say that I have been responsible for all the improvements which have been made in the village that have amounted to anything since it has been incorporated except the 2 years that Mayor Fitch was in office. Yes, one other thing they tell you they will do and that is to establish a public market. Now any man with a sane mind would not talk that kind of stuff. It is not possible because the town is not big enough to support a market, and if you could get 8 or 10 stands here, say 3 days per week, it would only increase the treasury $3 per week and besides the people could not buy any thing from these stands cheaper than they could from our stores and so they would not be benefitted one bit in the least; but on the other hand look at the damage it would do to the butchers, the store keepers and the men who are paying rent and taxes to the amount of several thousands of dollars, they are the ones who would suffer, and no one would be benefitted by such a transaction except the man out in the country.

In the last week a considerable number of leaflets have been circulating in the village signed "Good Citizens Club," and stating what Mr. Newberry would do if elected, and calling Squire Pool all kinds of pet names and saying dirty things about him, no not calling any one's name in particular, but writing it in such a way that every one knew who it was meant for, but say we will not call any names but if the "Shoe fits put it on." Did this help Newberry? I think not, for after the first one was put out signed Wm. E. Newberry it took him two days to go over the town telling the people that he did not put it out, and he did not only lose the two days time but 100 votes as well. Is that all "The Good Citizens Club" has done? No, it jumped on the mayor and said that no one could work and do business. Now any one with horse sense knows that is not true but if their statement is carried then all the business that I have transacted for my self and the public has come about by chance and not through business transactions.

Who is the "Good Citizens Club"? I don't know only one member and that is Mr. Frank Cooper, and he himself told me that if he had anything to do with the operating of the village he would get rid of every man on the fire department, sell our pump and fire station for we have not any use for it and could get along without one and besides it is a dead expense. Now let's see who is right, Mr. Cooper, or the mayor and council who purchased the fire departments. Our pumper cost $12,000, equipt the building $9,000.00. Men on fire department receive for one months service $525.00, one year $6300.00, making a total cost to the village $27,300.00. The tax duplicate of the village is $12,000,000, allowing $1,000,000 for land, the remainder of $11,000,000 for goods, houses, mills, and factories. Now on this $11,000,000 there is $50,000 paid out for insurance every 3 years. If we did not have a fire department our rate of insurance would increase 25 per cent which would amount to $12,500 every 3 years. We are told by the National Underwriters that by having the kind of fire department we have that our insurance will decrease 15 per cent. Now with the reduction of 15 per cent on the $50,000 we will only pay out $7,500. Add the $7,500 to the $12,500 increase if we had no department and it would amount to $20,000. That would leave the building and truck at the end of 3 years standing tax praise at cost of $730,000, this alone will show that Mr. Cooper does not know what he is talking about from a business point, to say nothing about the protection it is to the $11,000,000 worth of property. Now if Mr. Newberry is elected you will have no fire protection for Mr. Cooper will be mayor.

It has been asked by a great many and discussed in many ways as to "who should hold a public office or a public trust?" I do not believe that any man or woman should seek a public office; the office should first seek them, then if it is the desire of the citizens that he or she be a candidate for their public trust, then and not until then should they declare themselves for that office.

Now you may ask why I run for office. This is the reason, the people have always demanded that I run, except once and that time because they did not request it I got beat, and so will any candidate who doesn't have the majority of the best people behind him. By that I do not mean that every man who runs in the primary and gets defeated is the most unworthy of all. You take several good men running for the same office in a small place like ours and it is hard to nominate one of them. Why? Because it divides the good people, and the people who stand for good government, good streets and all kinds of improvements, schools and churches and sanitary conditions are in the minority. Take men in our village, who have helped to build and make it one of the most prosperous villages in the state, men who have put themselves in business and have worked day and night doing something for mankind and trying to build up the village. They are the kind of men you should get behind regardless of your political views nationally, for this is your home and your interest lies here. We are told that a man who will not provide for his home has denied the faith—and is worse than an infidel, so protect your town by voting for men who will devote their time for your benefit, if elected, and not for what they may receive from the office.

Now men and women the future life of New Boston depends upon your vote on November 8th. You should not vote for candidates in a municipal election just because they belong to the same party as yourself. Each voter should study the candidates and find out which ones will benefit the community most and then cast his vote accordingly. Then you will continue to grow and improve in the future as you have in the past. Take our present officials, look what they have done for you and are still trying to do. Your council may not have done everything which you thought was just right, but what they have done was done for the good of the village and not for their personal benefit. When men will devote their time to the amount of four or five days and nights in a month for the sum of $4.00 I do not think they deserve to be criticized by some one who is trying to get in and has never done anything for himself or any one else. Take your police department, I believe and in fact know that they have rendered the best service of any department in the state. Fines collected through them amount to $5066.73 for the last 22 months, the expense of this department amounts to $6410.00 for the last 22 months, this shows that the department has only cost the taxpayers of the village $1343.27. Frank "Pete" Hall, as chief, with the help of the other police has poured enough whiskey out the side window of the mayor's office to float the Greyhound down Funk's Gut into the Ohio river and these men never drank a drop of it. Some people who live in the lower end cuss and abuse the speed cop because he gets out on the job and makes the reckless driver drive as he should. Now you who knock, if some fellow who has no regard for traffic should come up Rhodes avenue and the speed cop gets him before he runs over your baby you think he is alright, otherwise he is a smart aleck. We have to have men on the job who will do their duty, otherwise our town would "go to the dogs" or your baby killed in the street while on its way to school by some rattle-brain who ought to be somewhere with a pick and shovel or holding a plow handle doing some good instead of running at large with a machine, maybe killing some one's golden haired baby, and so vote for New Boston and not for a "bunch" of drunken rowdies such as were conducting the Republican rally Saturday night through management of Carl Farmer, secretary and Roy Coburn, campaign manager.

Yours For Good Government

ON THE EVE OF THE ELECTION

WE want to sit down with you, earnestly and soberly, this evening, men and women voters of the city of Portsmouth, and discuss for a few minutes the mayoralty election of the city, your votes to be cast on the morrow, and the possible future effect upon the city's fortunes.

There has been much discussion, pro and con, the air has been filled with idle and vain promises of what a certain candidate will do if elected. There has been every effort, on the part of the supporters of George Matthews to deceive and hoodwink you. He has been on every side of various issues, all things to all people, in an effort to get your votes. He pleads with the churches for support and henchmen fill soft drink places with claims of his "being reasonable" if they will support him. Privately he makes declaration of unflinching and rigid enforcement of the laws, making pleas to men and women whom he expects to lead. Blue Lawers and Sunday Observers and Prohibition believers en masse to his support, while in his speeches he proclaims his advocacy of a wide open town.

But aside from all this, we want to quietly ask the men and women voters of this town, if they want to see a man of George E. Matthews' character, manner and habits of speech at the head of the city government of Portsmouth?

Special appeal is being made to the women voters to support the candidacy of Matthews as he and his supporters realize that so far as the men are concerned, Matthews is in a hopeless and impressive minority. Thousands of the men of Portsmouth know Matthews and they will not stand for him.

But do the women voters know, have they taken pains to find out what manner of man is Mr. Matthews? Do the Christian men and women of Portsmouth, realize what they are doing, if they support Matthews? Do they not realize that in voting for Matthews they are supporting one of the most habitual and most wickedly profane men that ever walked the streets of Portsmouth? Do they not realize that, in his ordinary conversation, Matthews does not say a dozen words without the use, most profanely, of the names, sacred to most people, or expressions that are so shocking they could not be repeated in print.

Now, frankly and candidly, men and women, do you think a man of this type should be elevated to the chief office in our city?

Do you think that a man whose mind is so twisted in the matter of holy and sacred things, can be trusted in city hall? Do you think that the professions and promises of such a man, can be depended upon?

Do you not realize that he may bring the blush of shame to your cheeks, not once but a hundred times, in the course of his two years' term, if he should be elected?

We ask you to think these things over, to talk them over at your fireside this evening, then to vote tomorrow as your heart, your conscience and your devotion to your religion and your homes dictate to you.

A QUESTION ANSWERED

THE republican executive committee, in advertisements, wants to know why Chief of Police Distel was so badly beaten for sheriff last year. It might also ask why were all democratic county candidates decisively beaten, for they were all slammed to a fare-you-well. Distel is singled out because he is the chief of police, and it is sought to cast reflections upon him in the hope of making a vote against Gableman.

But we are willing to answer the question. Mr. Distel lost a good many votes last year for the same reason that Henry Ruel, candidate for treasurer on the republican ticket ran thousands of votes behind his associates. Both of these men had, at one time been engaged in the saloon business. Both had retired from business long before prohibition and engaged in other activities. But there are some men and women in Portsmouth, as elsewhere, who consider that a man who even for a day engaged in the saloon business is eternally damned, beyond the pale of redemption, and should be constantly and continually execrated and vilified. These persons conducted a persistent and, it developed, an effective campaign against both Joseph S. Distel and Henry Ruel. So craftily did they work that they induced many sincere and good men and women, who accepted their propaganda as truth, to join with them in voting against both Distel and Ruel. The result was that Distel was beaten worse than some of his colleagues while Ruel would have been beaten in any ordinary year.

So far as Mr. Distel and his administration of affairs as chief of police are concerned, we have no hesitancy in saying that he has made a most excellent and conscientious official. He has worked hard. He has done his duty fearlessly, playing no favorites and giving all a fair deal. The record of achievement of the Portsmouth police department during the past two years compares more than favorably with that of any other city in the state, and we do not care what city is mentioned. Our force has been small, but it has been efficient. It has proved a terror to evil doers, and our record of robberies and hold-ups in a year most abnormal in this respect, has been a wonderful one.

In the discharge of his duties Mr. Distel has had to face the same determined and vicious hostility from certain persons that he encountered during his campaign for sheriff. Every effort was made to hamper, to injure, to discredit him. He went through the fires of two efforts to ruin him and he came out victorious. The first charges against him were so flimsy that they fell of their own weight. The second set of charges, the ones aired in Squire McManes' court, constituted the most outrageous travesty on justice ever witnessed in Scioto or any other county in Ohio. There was not a shred or shadow of evidence against Distel, yet a lawyer active in the effort to discredit Distel, wrote a long screed, bitterly attacking Distel, and the Justice, finding Distel not guilty, signed the screed prepared and handed to him, by the attorney who was prosecuting the alleged charges.

The efforts of some professional reformers have been directed not at co-operation with an official trying to do his duty, but rather their entire time, and those of officials whom they directed, were devoted to trying to "get something" on the chief of police. And yet, in the face of all this, Mr. Distel has gone ahead with his work, and has faithfully done the best he could with the force at his disposal.

P. S.—Did George E. Matthews support and vote for Henry Ruel last year, or did he join with his coterie of friends in assassinating Ruel's reputation and standing?

IF MATTHEWS WINS

VOTERS of Portsmouth know that Mayor Gableman, if re-elected, will continue in office the splendid officials whom he called to his assistance two years ago, and whose every energy has been devoted to furthering the best interests of the city. They know that men like William Gergens and Si Straus will continue on the job. But what about George Matthews, republican candidate for mayor? Being the midnight candidate of a rule or ruin faction of the republican party, himself drunk with ambition, is it not to be expected that Matthews will surround himself with a gang of heelers, making appointments to strengthen his factional hold on the republican party, rather than considering the good of the citizens of Portsmouth?

Is it surprising then that the slate of appointments to be made by Matthews, if elected, most commonly discussed and accepted, is as follows:

Director of Public Service—Frank L. Sikes.
 Director of Public Safety—Jim Starling.
 Chief of Police—"Pete" Smith.
 City Engineer (and boss of mayor)—Sam G. Harper.

SAM IS IN TOWN

SAM HARPER is in town, having come down on the run from his job at Columbus in response to a hurry call from his side partners in local republican factional dissension, George Matthews and Frank Moulton. Sam admits he is needed, no doubt of that, for it was told of him once that he described himself as the brains of his faction, Matthews as the lungs and Moulton as the feet. Incidentally Sam and George, of late, have been describing the "feet" of their trio as being very clay-y, and have said they were going to do some amputating after this election. But anyway Sam, The Brains, is in town and he comes looking like a real, high street city slicker. He is deeply interested in this election for if George, The Lungs, wins, Sam will come back to the easy pickings he enjoyed for so long in the city engineer's office, and will be in position to furnish advice, pull the strings, and generally make Matthews dance about.

In the meantime since Sam Harper, who all admit will own and boss George Matthews, if he is elected mayor of Portsmouth, is so deeply interested in court records, we wish to inquire if he has forgotten that record, out at the court house, of the time he was disgracefully fired as county engineer, a republican fired by a solidly republican board of county commissioners?

Or has he forgotten that investigation worked up against him, in the city council, by City Auditor J. Earl Chandler, in connection with the expenditure of $1,600, appropriated for re-plating the cemetery and for which J. Earl said the city got no plat? What became of that committee and why did it not report? Did not Sam say once he "would get" J. Earl for this, and has he changed his mind?

When you vote for George Matthews, Tuesday you vote for Sam Harper and his autocratic control, not only of Matthews but also of the entire affairs of Portsmouth. Remember that, men and women voters.

STREET CAR FARES AND GAS

THE utter desperation of the George Matthews crowd of political assassinations of character, is fittingly shown in reference made to the recent contract made by the city council with the Portsmouth Street Railway Company, in an editorial in the Sun. Attempt is made to cast the whole responsibility for that settlement upon Mayor Gableman, and appeals made to workmen to vote against Gableman, because, it is charged, Gableman is responsible for the increased fare.

What are the facts? The Street Railroad, like all other street railroads, was in bad financial shape. Its revenues were not sufficient to meet expenses and make betterments. The city council of Portsmouth and the city council of New Boston, both republican, studied the problem for months. The chamber of commerce, of Portsmouth, named a committee, composed solidly of republican business men, to assist in working out an equitable solution. The city council committee was entirely republican. The whole affair was in republican hands. City Solicitor Skelton, republican, of Portsmouth, and City Solicitor Harry Ball, republican, of New Boston, assisted in working out a solution. The result of the combined efforts was the present contract or ordinance, by which the fare is to be based on the cost plus system. When the ordinances came to Mayor Gableman, of Portsmouth, and to Mayor Davis, of New Boston, as the unanimous outcome and with the unanimous approval of the civic bodies and councils, they signed the ordinances. That, Mr. Workingman, is what Mayor Gableman had to do with your street car fare.

Personally, we feel that the solution was the wisest and best possible, under the conditions existing.

This is but another instance of George Matthews seeking to cast obloquy and contempt on republican citizens in a vain effort to make a vote for himself. Will republicans stand for it?

And the same thing is true of the gas rate. Mayor Gableman had no hand, has no hand, in this matter. It is a question for the city solicitor and the city council to work out, but mainly a legal question. Solicitor Skelton rightly took the matter to the State Public Utilities Commission, and the ease of whether or not an increased rate is justifiable, is now in the hands of that body.

THOSE INDICTMENTS

IN an advertisement, the republican executive committee, seeks to stem the tide against its candidate for mayor, by publishing a copy of an indictment returned some months ago against Mayor Gableman. True to form, the Matthews faction cannot tell the truth about Gableman, but seek to twist and distort the facts to serve their own unholy ends.

The facts are these:

A man came here, backed by written opinions of John G. Price, now attorney general of Ohio and Timothy S. Hogan, ex-attorney general, that his machines violated no law, and placed a lot of mint machines about town. You put a nickel in and you got a nickel's worth of mints. In almost every cigar store in the land, you will find what you call a "Play Ball" card. You pull of a slip of paper, and if your slip reads, base hit, you get one cigar. If it reads ball, you get nothing, and so on. The grand jury indicted, not only Mayor Gableman, but some 25 or 30 other cigar store, drug store and grocery proprietors of the town on these mint machine or "play ball" cards. The cases were never called to trial.

The defendants pleaded not guilty and were ready for trial. The indictments were nolleed at request of the Prosecutor. There was no indictment for operating base ball.

This is what the indictments amounted to. These are the real facts about the thing that Matthews and his crowd of assassins, have been whispering about to men and women, all the while, holding up their hypocritical hands in pretended holy horror.

But what about the Matthews gang? Since when did George and his crew begin to sprout wings? Eh, what!

George E. Matthews boasts that he made a great success of his own business affairs and is therefore qualified to run the business of Portsmouth taxpayers. So? Well, we have not heard of any of George's former associates in business running to the front with testimonials about his wonderful ability or business acumen.

Mayor Gableman vetoed the McGowan compromise, agreed to by council. The case went back to the courts and now has been finally settled at a net saving of many thousands of dollars to the taxpayers.

ONE LIE NAILED

A Republican county official made a trip to the Seventh street engine house Sunday and whispered to the firemen that they ought to vote against Gableman because he was going to fire every one in the fire department, if re-elected, from the Chief down. This is an absolute lie, and the man who told it knew it was a lie. The position of Mayor Gableman is just what it has always been—he favors a clean-cut fire department, and he wants good firemen, regardless of political beliefs. And he is exactly right.

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MONTGOMERY

NEW YORK, November 7.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Peppers: Up and at my aunt. By and by came Mistress Mar'e Rice, the loveliest lady I have seen in a full moon, and we talked of the Orient where she lives. My dog is with fleas again and afoot with him to the kennels to make him clean. To the hotel-keeper to have him fix my watch and as hiding a chap as ever I saw, his head full of other business.

Going to the looking glass man's I bought a fine mirror to be used in trimming myself, something I can ill afford. With Dave Stamper, the music composer, to a tavern for lunch and pretty merry, he telling me of having written ten tunes for a new play and forgetting them all. Not, by chance, putting them on paper. Very droll he was in the telling.

In the afternoon to the station to see Ray Rohn, the artist, who told me of his marriage and I have never seen him happier. Home and carried some rare flowers to my wife and we had a contentful talk. Came at night Miss R'tin Delman, the short story writer, and later came H. Hobart in a sorry mood, his gasoline wagon having accidentally killed a fellow on the highway. Late to Mick's for frozen cream with hot chocolate sauce and so to bed.

It is something quite novel for a book reviewer to review his own book. Yet Heywood Brown has done this very thing in his columns in the World. It is done very skillfully too and somehow after you read it you have a desire to read "Seeing Things at Night". After all Mr. Brown has made more books than any other critic in New York and there is no earthly reason why he should let his own volume go unnoticed.

Speaking of books and things, I am indebted to Gregory Scott Robbins, a young Pennsylvania poet, for his autographed book of verse. I especially admire his quatrain to Pagliacci which follows:

He laughs, with ashes in his heart.
 His humor and his wit impart
 The magic of that frozen smile;
 He dies a thousand deaths the while.

Whoever makes the fashions for men has perpetrated another dirty piece of work. The dinner jacket has for two years been worn with negligee shirts and now one is not smart at all unless one wears a starched plain white evening dress shirt. Plague take it anyway!

The street hawkers along Forty-second street grow as the weather grows colder. They must work quickly for after they make their pitch and the knot of people collects the police are on their trail. Some of them mangle the Queen's English but one is particularly learned. He began his spiel as follows:

"Whom do you think I met today? None other than my good friend Professor Einstein. We discussed various cosmic matters and then he tried earnestly to convert me to his subject or rather his theory. Now I have a theory about men's garters—"

And while the crowd gaped he spread forth an array of colored hose supporters. He sold them like hot cakes and a half hour later I saw him on a Bryant Park bench reading a book of Byron's poems.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

By W. G. SIBLEY

The Most Intimate Salutation

Kissing was known to the ancient Greeks and Romans, and evidently its temptations as well, for the Greeks made their wives eat onions before they left their homes. In ancient Rome who kissed his betrothed thereby gave her title to one-half of his property in case of his death before marriage—the kiss being a symbol of pledged faith.

Early Christians used the kiss as a token of religious union, but its promiscuous use in church developed into a scandal, and the Council of Carthage, in 397 A. D., forbade all religious kissing between the sexes. England early became accustomed to promiscuous kissing. In mediaeval times visitors kissed their host's wife and daughters as a matter of politeness, dancing partners kissed, and indeed that form of salute became about as common as modern handshaking. But John Bunyan frowned on the practice, which, however, spread to other lands. Billstrode Whitelock was commissioned by Christine of Sweden, about 1650, to teach the ladies of her court "the English mode of salutation." The records say he entered upon his duties "most readily."

A famous historical example of an unwelcome kiss is that which passed between the Cardinal Count of Lorraine and the Portuguese princess, the Duchess of Savoy. When she tendered her hand to the gallant Cardinal to be kissed, he was highly indignant, and cried: "How, madame, am I to be treated in this manner? I kiss the Queen, my mistress, who is the greatest queen in the world, and shall I not kiss you, a dirty little duchess? I would have you know I have kissed as handsome ladies, and of as great or greater family than you." Thereupon he seized her, and in spite of her angry resistance kissed her three times on the mouth. Church had great authority then!

War Songs

The Grand Army of the Republic marched home fifty-six years ago singing such songs as:

We're tenting tonight on the old camp ground,
 Waiting for the war to cease,
 While the women at home had a favorite in the plaintive strains of a sad bit of music with the melancholy refrain.

And yet, we know, we cannot forget that many brave boys must fall. These are recalled as a contrast to the official words of the song of the American Legion, adopted October 21. Note the rollicking quality and the punch of the lines:

That dear old buddy of mine
 Is a fellow you'll like fine,
 And he fought with me in the jemboree
 That saved the world for democracy.

When the big guns flare,
 Was my buddy scared?
 You can tell the whole world "No!"

With a mouse hop, he went over the top.
 And he fought the German foe
 With his bayonet, my pal, you bet.
 Caused Hans and Fritz to run,
 He's a rare, tearin' sometimes swearin'.
 Fightin' son of a gun.

That dear old buddy of mine
 Just hung an Indian sign.
 On Hans and Fritz till they hollered
 "Quits!"
 And my buddy won by his clever wits.

Mr. Brisbane has qualified as a cat Matheus. Commenting on a legacy of $100,000 left by a maiden lady to supply milk for the cats of the world, he says: "If every kitten lived, and without interference raised its little family, this world would soon be a solid mass of cats and kittens." Then there would be no mice or rats. Mr. Brisbane has unwittingly solved a great problem.

But Masterston, gunman who "improved the world considerably" by the people he removed from it, there were 28 of them, has passed over. He was a good gunman, whose bullets sped to wicked targets, and whose killings were legal, and a son of the West, though penned up in New York for years.

DOG KOKO'S KOLUM

The autumn came a gypsy clad
 In ragged red and gold.
 "Hail, Spirit of the Garden, hail!"
 She cried in accents bold.
 "I want your scarlet salvia
 And china asters gay;
 In shining silver for them all
 I promise I will pay."

She took the blossoms radiant
 On rainbow beauty bright
 And left her frosty silver stream
 In payment over night.
 It melted in the morning sun,
 And where on branch and bed
 And border it had lain, behold!
 The grass and flowers were dead.

Too Capable

"French maids are very capable," said Lady Duff Gordon at a tea at the Ritz. "Sometimes they are almost too capable."

Elbe Martin

"I heard the other day of a young woman whose French maid was all that the heart could desire. As she was putting a lovely Marcel wave in her mistress's hair, one afternoon the mistress said:

"I visited a fortune teller this morning, Yvonne, and asked her about my husband."

"The maid smiled."

"If madame had asked me," she said, "I could have told madame more than the fortune teller could."

"Every man ought to save enough money to buy himself a good, big farm," said the political orator.

"Yes, and then go and do something else with the money," replied a farmer in the audience.—The Non-Partisan Leader (Minn.)

You will, if a matron and calling on two unmarried women who are equally hostess, leave two of your own cards and two of your husband's.

You will not leave your own cards for any of the men in a household, though you leave them for all of the women.
